Francis Clayton,
Widow of Dead Man
Face Hearing May 26

Oshkosh — Francis Clayton, 18, and Mrs. Victoria Fritz, 30, were arraigned on first degree murder charges Monday afternoon. The municipal court room was packed with spectators.

County Judge Herbert J. Mueller, sitting in municipal court, ordered preliminary hearings for both on May 26 and ordered both to be held without bail.

The two are charged in the shooting of Marlin Fritz, 37, Friday night while he slept in his apartment.

Thanks Judge Clayton, a former mental hospital patient, wearing a fixed half smile, thanked Judge Mueller when the preliminary hearing date was set.

Mrs. Fritz, the dead man's widow and Clayton's sweetheart for three months, nervously twisted a handkerchief in her hands but said nothing during her arraignment that followed Clayton's appearance in court.

She was heard to remark "What are all these people doing around here?" as she was led into the court room.

Admits Shooting Clayton, in a signed statement, admitted shooting Fritz in the right temple with a .22 calibre rifle belonging to the dead man. He said he killed him because he was in love with Mrs. Fritz.

Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber explained that Mrs. Fritz as an accessory before the fact can be charged with the principal offense, but certain aspects of her story are still being investigated to determine the extent of her involvement. Steinhilber said the charge against her could be amended before the May 26 hearing.

In Clayton's statement he said he told Mrs. Fritz he was going to kill her husband Friday night and that she warned her husband. She refused, he said, to accompany him into Fritz' bedroom when he did the shooting.

Governor Sees No Need for Tax Boost

'Prosperity'
Hikes Take,
Cuts Deficit

Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today the 1960-61 state budget can be balanced without increasing taxes.

"Unprecedented economic growth and prosperity" in Wisconsin in 1959 means a $23 million deficit has been removed, the chief executive said in a prepared talk to both houses of the Wisconsin legislature.

The budget can be balanced, he asserted, by extending the present 25 percent surtax.

Surprised Solons The governor's statement came as a surprise to lawmakers.

Only Monday night Republicans of the assembly and senate, meeting in caucus, agreed to go along, in part, with Nelson's earlier advocacy of a small increase in the normal income tax to balance the budget.

State Sen. Gerald Lorge, (R-Bear Creek), this morning rapped the Democratic administration for withholding information from the Republican caucus on the true state of the expected deficit. He said, despite repeated requests for up-to-the-minute information, the caucus was led to believe there would be a $17 million deficit and the Republicans acted on the

Western Europe Turns Against Soviet Premier

Russian Stand Denounced in Free
World; Brace for Bitter Cold War

London — Western Europe today turned angrily on Nikita Khrushchev and braced itself for more bitter cold war campaigning.

The Soviet premier was denounced in every noncommunist capital as solely responsible for bringing the summit conference to the brink of disaster.

Why did Khrushchev go to Paris at all if he meant only to wreck the talks? The question was being asked all over Europe, and some western observers had a ready answer.

Khrushchev wanted to insult President Eisenhower with the world as an audience, they said, without regard to the effect on east-west negotiations. Many Europeans had conceded that with the downing of an American spy plane over Russia Khrushchev scored a propaganda victory which strongly bolstered his bargaining position at the summit. In many nations in intelligence flights were publicly deplored, and fears were expressed that the North Atlantic alliance was being involved in dangers it had never bargained for.

Shock Tactics "But Mr. Khrushchev has miscalculated badly if he thinks that his shock tactics are likely to increase these doubts and fears," the London Times asserted. "His action is much more likely to have exactly the opposite effect."

"Instead of playing patiently for agreement, he asked the Americans to grovel," the Times declared. "This is much more than overplaying a good hand."

There was praise for the dignity with which Eisenhower suffered Khrushchev's tongue lashing.

In calling off the spy flights, Eisenhower made "a gesture the generosity of which should not be underrated," said the London Daily Express.

"But Khrushchev demanded that President Eisenhower should apologize like a school-boy caught redhanded," said Sweden's Stockholm Tidning.

"Eisenhower did what he deemed fitting to his dignity to save the situation. But this was not enough for the Russians. They demanded a complete sinner's confession, a total, unconditional surrender."

"Eisenhower consequently had to say no."

Everywhere, there were

Gunman Robs Finance Firm At Waupaca

Waupaca — A gunman held up the Thorp Finance company office here on N. Main street about 12:40 p.m. today, tied up the woman clerk on duty and escaped with $330.56 in small bills and change.

Miss Martha Iverson told Waupaca police she was alone in the office when the man entered, pulled out a revolver or pistol and demanded money. He forced her to unlock a desk drawer, from which he took cash and stuffed it into his pockets.

The woman was tied up in a back room, but after the robber left she managed to kick a telephone off the hook and had the operator summon police.

Authorities said the man was between 50 and 55, about six feet tall and heavy set. He was wearing gloves. The description is similar to that of a gunman who obtained more than $200 from the Wisconsin Finance corporation at Wausau Monday.

At that time, a tan and blue 1956 Chevrolet station wagon bearing Minnesota plates was used in the getaway. No getaway vehicle was seen at Waupaca.

Macmillan Trying To Save Summit

But Spokesmen See Little Chance
In Face of U. S.-Russian Impasse

Paris — "Don't underestimate Mr. Macmillan."

This advice came early today from a skilled British diplomat after his prime minister talked for an hour and 35 minutes with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in an effort to get the big four summit talks started. In the face of a seemingly hopeless Moscow-Washington impasse, the diplomat's words sounded more like an expression of loyalty and faith to Macmillan than sound political judgment.

But British officials are not normally blinded by their wishes. This one conceded that chances of success for Macmillan's rescue operation are not so good. Yet he still refused to admit defeat for his chief.

No Lot Causes Macmillan is known as "a politician's politician" in the British house of commons, one who rarely champions lost causes. His followers say he's "unflappable," meaning he does not panic.

They recall that he began the process of "summitry" early in 1959, when the Berlin powderkeg threatened to explode into violence. Macmillan, a master of timing, journeyed to Moscow for talks with Khrushchev in the teeth of opposition from the late Sec. of State John Foster Dulles, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle. His initiative helped to cool the smoldering Berlin crisis.

At the same time he developed something of a relationship with Khrushchev which at times has aroused the suspicions of some of his allies.

High Court Handed Down Racial Ruling Six Years Ago Today

New York — Six years ago today the supreme court handed down its historic decision against racial segregation in public schools.

Yet only six of every 100 Negro children in southern and border states now attend integrated classes, according to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Recapture Seven Insane Criminals

Fulton, Mo. — Seven insane criminals escaped from the Fulton state hospital last night but were recaptured quickly.

Six of the patients were caught within four hours after the break. The seventh, Alphonso Pulliam, 21-year-old Negro from St. Louis, was captured by a posse early today north of here. Pulliam, committed to the hospital in 1956 as a sexual psychopath, did not resist.

Dr. Alfred K. Baur, hospital superintendent, said the men overpowered three ward attendants, then captured the ward supervisor. With his keys, they reached the roof of the 4-story building.

Soviets May Have Internal Trouble

Stalinists, Military, Chinese
Could be Pressuring Khrushchev

Paris — Nikita Khrushchev's performance at the summit meeting that failed to get off the ground indicates he is engaged in a struggle to maintain his claim to lead world communism.

Because of that, a new cold war freeze may be in prospect, comparable even to the dangerous 1948 Stalin days of the Berlin blockade.

Unless he got an apology from the president of the United States, Khrushchev insisted, he could not negotiate with the U.S. president. This he added in an aside was a matter involving the internal politics of the Soviet Union.

The implication is that Khrushchev is engaged in a 3 sided struggle with (1) the Stalinists, (2) the military and (3) the Chinese communists, who have been nagging him for what appear to them to be reckless adventures in peace making.

Khrushchev destroyer of the image of Stalin as a demigod, seems to have bowed to the Stalinists.

The Soviet boss has been required to kick overboard all he has built with great care over the past three years. Apparently, in the Stalinist and red Chinese view, his peace gestures went much too far and threatened communism as a constantly moving dynamic force.

Khrushchev for years has been fascinated by the idea

Agrees to Talk Only if Ike Apologizes; 'Otherwise We'll Go Home,' He Asserts

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Paris — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today doomed any lingering hopes for the summit conference with a sidewalk declaration that he will return to Russia unless President Eisenhower apologizes for the U. S. spy flight over Russia and "admits America made aggression against the Soviet people."

"If Eisenhower recognizes America committed aggression and that the people who committed it should be punished," Khrushchev told an impromptu news conference, "then the conference can start. Otherwise we will go home."

He made his stand three times today — in two informal interviews and in a statement issued through the Soviet embassy. The United States, meantime, showed no sign of meeting the Soviet leader's demands by going beyond President Eisenhower's disclosure yesterday that U. S. spy flights over the Soviet Union are discontinued.

Khrushchev's formal statement said "I am ready to participate in a meeting with President de Gaulle of France, Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain and U. S. President Eisenhower to exchange views on whether conditions have materialized to start the summit conference."

Wants Apology "If the United States have really come to the decision to condemn the treacherous incursion of American military aircraft into the air space of the Soviet Union, publicly express regrets over these incursions, punish those who are guilty and give assurance that such incursions will not be repeated in the future, we would be ready on the receipt of such assurance to participate in the summit conference."

This statement seemed to mean that the Soviet premier was willing to get together with the western big three, but that any such session could deal only with his preliminary demands.

His maneuver appeared to be primarily an attempt to shift to Eisenhower the blame for breaking up the summit conference.

Eisenhower met with de Gaulle and Macmillan this afternoon, and invited Khrushchev to sit with them.

He scorned the invitation,

Alert Linked to Tense Situation

U. S. Armed Forces
Around World Put
On Readiness Test

Washington — Yesterday's world-wide alertness test of U. S. armed forces was ordered specially from Paris by Thomas S. Gates, secretary of defense.

Word of Gates' order came from the Pentagon last night and strengthened belief that the test was linked to the tense atmosphere of the summit talks. Gates is in Paris as President Eisenhower's chief military adviser.

However, Gates' order came several hours before Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev collapsed the big four meeting.

The middle-of-the-night order started a quick check on the availability of key personnel, and many pilots were rushed back to their bases.

General Order

The Pentagon said Gates' order was general, leaving it up to the joint chiefs of staff to decide which of several possible maneuvers to follow. It was officially described as a "worldwide communications readiness exercise."

The order was so secret that the Pentagon's top public information officers knew nothing about it when inquiring newsmen routed them out of bed.

The alert message was sent to command posts throughout the world. It left to local commanders how far they wanted to go in calling men to their stations.

Ready Within Six Months

U. S. Soon to Have Most Powerful Rocket-Detecting-Radar System

Thule, Greenland — The most powerful rocket-detecting radar in the free world will be going into operation here within the next six months.

But the possibility already looms that this ballistic missile early warning system (BMEWS) with its 3,000-mile range later may have to be given even greater capability to cope with the mounting technology of Russian weapon designers.

Could Be Modified Brig Gen John B. Bestie, deputy director of communications and electronics of the U. S. air force, was asked by newsmen who visited this Arctic site whether the three BMEWS stations being built could be improved later.

Bestie mentioned the Soviet missile firings into the Pacific early this year at ranges of more than 7,700 miles. Then he commented that "as time goes by we will have to think about longer range missiles."

And how the operation of BMEWS might tie in with other systems such as the reconnaissance satellite Midas.

Bestie did not go into detail.

Reds Step Up Jamming Of Voice of America

Washington — The Russians have stepped up their jamming of Voice of America broadcasts since the spy plane incident started the world.

The jamming had been virtually stopped last September when Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev visited the United States.

but some factors seemed obvious.

The 3,000-mile designed range of the BMEWS radars are to make possible detection of missiles as they climb shortly after the arrival here of Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano. He came to discuss what Adenauer considers "a very serious state of affairs."

The Germans were said to believe that in proposing a six to eight-month recess in the summit conference, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was extending the Berlin crisis for at least that long.

Allowances would have to be made for such things as more distant launch points, higher trajectories, different speed characteristics and possible counter radar methods.

This first BMEWS station incorporates all present techniques of radar, including a newly developed energy amplifying tube called klystron. This makes possible the radiation of enormous energy—several million watts—into space to bounce off a missile target and bounce back to register at the sending point. Further development of the power tube conceivably could produce greater, even fantastic amounts of radiated energy.

The unit here is one of three BMEWS stations being built to scan the skies over all the approaches from Russia and her satellites. The others are at Clear, Alaska, and at Fylingdales, England.

Their purpose is to provide at least 15 minutes warning if enemy missiles are fired at this country. Within that time, retaliatory bombers would be taking off and civilian populations would be seeking whatever shelter they can find.

Reds May Not be Ready to Force Berlin Showdown

Paris — The West German government was reported today to believe that the Russians will hold back on any early attempt to force the western powers out of West Berlin regardless of what happens at the summit.

This assessment of the position of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government came shortly after the arrival here of Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano. He came to discuss what Adenauer considers "a very serious state of affairs."

Health, Longevity
Scientists Searching
For New Laws of Life

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer
New Haven, Conn.—(A)—Being orderly, Nature has its laws for life as well as laws for atoms, weather, and stars. Years of research by many scientists have disclosed some of the laws for life. "But we suspect new laws remain to be found to explain living systems, and how and why they behave as they do," says Dr. Ernest C. Pollard, Yale university biologist. A Search for Laws He and associates have set themselves the task of finding still-hidden laws of life. The knowledge could bring benefits for human health and longevity. How do you go about finding new laws? "One way is to take old principles or theories and push or test them to the hilt, trying to find absurdities, or places where they don't fit. Those exceptions lead to better theories and new laws," Dr. Pollard explains. Relatively and quantum mechanics were discovered by this process, by finding situations where old principles of gravity, electricity and magnetism didn't explain behavior in atoms, or other phenomena. Man and animals are mighty complex, carrying on a confusing number of simultaneously processes. Simple forms So the Yale group is starting with simple forms of life in the search for absurdities or misfits in present theories. One is extremely tiny bacteria, barely visible in microscopes, nicknamed PPLO, for pleuro pneumonia-like organisms. Each is so small that it shouldn't contain more than 100 protein molecules with which to carry on its life processes, Dr. Pollard says. Each molecule in turn is governed by specific elements in the bacteria's genetic material, or DNA. Dr. Harold Morowitz is trying to count the proteins, and if he finds more than 100, this would be an absurdity and call for revision of present thinking. Larger bacteria are being examined to learn if there is only one way in which nature creates genetic DNA. By the- cates itself before a cell di- vides, so that half of the DNA is always "old." And theory says this duplication is done in only one way. Genes Shifted Another search is for the mechanisms by which genes are sometimes shifted in their order so that the DNA is not duplicated exactly. This failure is one cause of genetic changes or mutations. Human cells grown in tissue culture are being exam- ined by Dr. Reginald Dearing to learn the precise effects of radiation, particularly radia- tion like that from cosmic rays. Living cells are subjected to bombardment by heavy ions or particles produced in a cyclotron. This radiation pro- duces immediate effect—rather than delayed effect as X-rays do—and the damage or effects increase as the expo- sure is increased. No Set Goal! Such experiments so far indicate that humans could be protected from cosmic ray radiation in space travel, Dr. Pollard says. It may take 5 to 50 years to turn up new laws of living sys- tems. The search is a prime example of basic research, to learn how nature works. It might contribute to prac- tical benefits, or the prize could be simply satisfying sci- entific curiosity.

Clintonville — Two speed- ers were fined in justice court over the weekend. Richard Ziereis, 29, route 3, Clintonville, was fined $50 for speeding 55 miles per hour in a 25 miles per hour zone. Ardeen Fierek, route 1, Wittenberg, was fined $10 for driving 42 miles per hour in a 25 miles per hour zone. Lawrence Heling, 19, route 2, Clintonville, was arrested May 13 on Thirteenth street for reckless driving. He was fined $50 and had his driver's license revoked. This charge took six points off his license and previously he had lost six points on a speeding arrest. Mrs. Rosemary Klitz, Clin- tonville, was fined $10 after she pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct. She was ar- rested April 30 in a local res- taurant by the Clintonville police.

Lawrence Says

Spy Plane May Promote Open Sky Policy

U. S. Penetration Of Russia Result Of Red Refusal

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — What's the difference between a Russian aerial apparatus flying 188 miles in the air and taking pictures across the United States, and an American observation plane flying 12 miles above the territory of the Soviet Union? Lawrence also taking pictures?

Is the flight of the newest "Sputnik" of the Russians an "act of aggression"? Is it another "spying" operation? Certainly it was conducted without advance notice to and without the consent of the United States government.

There is no settled basis of international law for either the claim that national sovereignty does extend into outer space, or that it does not. The sky is free to everybody until an agreement of some kind is reached.

The artificial commotion stirred up by Moscow propaganda in the last several days makes little sense. For the latest exploit of the so-called "satellite" of the Russians, which contains the dummy of a man, points up how unrealistic have been some of the comments about the American plane.

Reconnaissance Necessary
The Soviet government does not seem to be worried whether the "timing" is right. The stunt was arranged to take place at the very moment the "summit" conference was about to meet. Yet in America, some of the critics have said that the experimental observation flight by Francis Powers should never have been flown "at this time." Is the United States Air Force to be told it cannot carry on its "airborne alert" operations because these might offend Russia, though the Russians appear to be flying their planes over Alaskan territory and their satellites across the American continent whenever they please?

High-altitude reconnaissance by the United States is the direct result of Russia's refusal to let her plane and missile sites and nuclear operations be observed, so that a surprise attack or an accidental attack can be prevented.

The case was dramatically summed up, prior to the Powers incident, in a report by the house committee on appropriations, which said:

Soviet Advantage
"To effectively deter a would-be aggressor, we should maintain our armed forces in such a way and with such an understanding that, should it ever become obvious that an attack upon us or our allies is imminent, we can launch an attack before the aggressor has hit either us or our allies. This is an element of deterrence which the United States should not deny itself. No other form of deterrence can be fully relied upon."

The Russians have an advantage—they know they are not going to be attacked first. The Soviet Union would like nothing better than to stop all American observation measures and pick its own time for attack. Unfortunately, there are naive Americans who trust the Russians and would frustrate our own defensive machinery in order to appease an enemy.

Aerial spying is not new. In the Aug. 5, 1955, issue of "U. S. News and World Report," Col. Richard S. Leghorn of the air force reserve, who helped develop the "open skies" plan, wrote:

"Aerial spying on the Soviet Union—done covertly and without Soviet permission—can be carried out with a very, very small probability of loss and with great gains for the west.

May Turn Tide
"The president's offer of mutual aerial inspection has at last seized for the west the initiative in the 'cold war.' If we press this advantage hard, we can win a major cold-war battle—perhaps decisive enough to turn the tide truly toward complete, universal and enforceable disarmament. . . . The Powers episode may yet prove to be the turning point in a long struggle to get some safeguards against surprise attack."

International Paper Profits Edge Higher

Stockholders are Critical of Dividend Payouts, Policies

International Paper company has reported first quarter profits edged above a year earlier. But its management got plenty of critical comments from stockholders at the annual meeting.

For more than an hour, Chairman John M. Hinman stood on the dais while shareholders queried and orated. Seldom were the remarks put as questions, mostly they were speeches.

One stockholder opened with the traditional luncheon-circuit phrasing "Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen

The chief complaint was that International Paper's dividends, in some shareholders' view, have not kept up with its earnings. International since 1955 has paid a quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share. In 1950 the company paid a 25 per cent stock dividend, and, after a lapse of a couple of years paid stock dividends each year. The rate has declined from 10 per cent in 1953 to 2 per cent last year.

Profit Up

Earlier, the 250 shareholders at the meeting were told that International Paper earned $18,276,000, or $1.36 a share in the first quarter of 1960. This represented a slight gain from the $18,016,000, or $1.34 a share, earned a year ago.

Like most U.S. pulp and paper companies, International has extensive Canadian operations. The exchange problem is especially severe for International since its Canadian units' revenues are in U.S. dollars and its expenses in Canadian dollars.

Rising Costs

Hinman said the paper industry continues to be troubled by an imbalance between "almost universally increasing costs" and stable prices.

Although many people in the industry think this results from overcapacity, Hinman said International was moving ahead with its expansion plans. This is necessary, he said, to anticipate the growing needs of the company's customers.

In another report, Richard C. Doane, president, said the company has decided to expand its plant at Fond du Lac and to build a new shipping container plant in Chicago.

Pick Rev. Pierson Commissioner to Church Assembly

The Rev. Clifford J. Pierson, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, has been named a commissioner by Winnebago Presbytery to the 172nd general assembly of the United Presbyterian church in Cleveland, Ohio, May 18 to 25.

The commissioners will elect a moderator to succeed Dr. Arthur L. Miller, Denver, Colo., retiring moderator of the denomination.

The general assembly is the highest governing body of the church. It annually reviews the work and program of its boards and agencies and acts upon overtures and amendments to the church's constitution and form of government.

The Rev. Mr. Pierson also will attend a preassembly conference on evangelism at Cleveland May 16 and 17.

Sidewalk Work Gets Approval

Installation of sidewalks on portions of seven streets will be recommended to the city council by the street and sanitation committee.

Work to be done includes both sides of W. Parkway boulevard from Mason to Richmond streets; west side of Bennett street from Grant to Taylor street, east side of Bennett street, north side of Taylor from the corner of Bennett 120 feet east, south side of W. Roberts in front of Lot 4, Block 3, Acheson plat, south side of Taylor from Locust street west 120 feet, west side of Locust from Taylor to Wisconsin avenue, and Summit from Grant to Parkway, and at 1019 S. Christine.

Also approved were grading and graveling Hall avenue from Woodland street to Grant; and a tack coat for that portion of Packard street lying west of Linwood for about one block.

Pavement for 120 feet north on Meade street from the Meade-Wisconsin intersection was postponed until next spring, and temporary asphalt repairs will be made. It was decided to defer pavement until next year when both the city and county would have enough money to put in pavement all the way from Wisconsin to Northland avenues.

Subsidies for Cities?

The Democratic technique of sending to the White House bills that are unacceptable to the president, and thus invite a veto, is becoming rather obvious. The idea of this election-year strategy is to make Mr. Eisenhower, and through him the Republican party, seem like an old tightwad who constantly slaps down the Democrats' attempts to do something for people who are in trouble.

The latest of these bills, which the president quickly and very properly vetoed, was the so-called depressed areas bill which would have provided government loans and other benefits to communities that have been losing industry or have otherwise failed to grow and prosper along with the rest of the country during these boom times. Basically this is an application to urban areas of the principle that has been followed for 30 years in trying to solve the "farm problem" — the principle of the economic status quo, that once any activity has become firmly established in our economy it never must be permitted to wither or die.

The 'Stop-Gap' Tax Bill

It will be difficult for most citizens far removed from the scene of battle in the state legislature to judge the merits of Gov. Nelson's plan for what he calls a "stop-gap" income tax increase, and some of the Republican demands for budget balancing by way of expenditure trimming.

What is fairly evident, however, is that whatever the merits of one or the other of the positions may be, the Republicans are unlikely to prevail in the face of a lower house of the legislature controlled by the Democrats who already have made up their minds and against the adamant position of the governor who has a veto power.

We are more interested in the phrase the governor uses to describe his plan for a revision of the rates of income tax liability, from the top to the bottom, in equal steps.

While this has the virtue of flattening the curve of progressivity and thus making the yield more stable, we cannot accept the idea that this is a temporary expedient, as the governor manifestly wants to suggest in his choice of the "stop-gap" descriptive. Sen. Draheim is more realistic, and more responsive to the historical facts, when he predicts that such a revision once achieved will remain forever.

Slow Down, Governor

Gov. Nelson usually speaks on public questions with an attitude of tolerance and good nature, reflecting, as we had supposed, his realization out of a considerable experience in political life that the truth in political situations is sometimes difficult to establish and that honest men may honestly disagree.

Therefore we were surprised and disappointed at the violence of his language last week when he angrily challenged some of the critics of his state appropriations and taxation policies.

Some of them are ignorant, or stupid, or both, he said with uncharacteristic spleen. Some of them are "intellectually dishonest," he asserted. Among them he singled out Sen. Draheim who had exercised a basic prerogative as a member of the independent state legislature when he publicly suggested that state expenditures could be cut in the face of the state's budget deficit.

The governor might with perfect propriety say that the Draheims among his opponents are mistaken. These are questions of taste. But "intellectually dishonest?" Who is he to make such definitions?

The governor is trying to convey the impression that these men of opposing viewpoints on state policy have not specified even though its usefulness has long since passed away.

But the most fundamental law of economics is still the one that says there is no such thing as a free lunch, and any kind of subsidy — whether for rural or urban people — must be paid by someone else. Just as city people are penalized (through higher food prices) by the farm subsidy program, so growing and prosperous communities will be nicked to provide the money for a depressed areas program. Wisconsin's Gov. Nelson, in supporting this bill, pointed out that La Crosse, Superior and several other communities in this state would benefit from it but he failed to add that Milwaukee, Kenosha, Madison, the Fox Cities and Green Bay would have to help pay for it.

This bill provides a preview of what we can expect should the Democrats maintain control of Congress and also capture the White House. Should this happen we can expect to have on our hands 20 years from now the same kind of monumental mess in the field of urban subsidies that we have now under the farm program.

In the face of that strong likelihood, the legislature must face up to the question of whether it wants now to order a permanent revision of the income tax schedule, while a "blue ribbon" commission is considering the issue of tax revision in all of its ramifications — interstate competition, economic development, stability, equity and the rest — and has said that it is not yet ready to report.

There will be a strong disposition among persons concerned with genuine tax reappraisal in Wisconsin to use more plausible and real stop-gaps, such as a surtax, or some package or excise tax that would be so visible and become such an irritant, that the next legislature would be forcibly reminded of the pledge implied in the action and would be moved to get rid of them in the final tax revision that presumably then will be prepared.

Gov. Nelson is doubtless doing what seems best to him within his political circumstances and his own philosophy. But he is misleading the public to the extent that he labels as temporary something that in the very nature of politics will be folded permanently into the tax budget.

where they would cut the state budget. Yet Sen. Draheim in an Appleton speech the other day rattled off half a dozen suggestions, some of which he had actually offered before during legislative deliberations. The Public Expenditure Survey, another of the governor's targets which he treats with the deepest contempt, has repeatedly made tangible, measurable proposals for reducing state spending, by eliminating or reducing certain state services, by readjusting some of the costly state aid schedules, by more intensive utilization of state space facilities, among many others.

As noted, these are questions of taste, of individual convictions about the justified extent of state services, about the liability of the general taxpayer and the immediate service beneficiary, and about the limits — if any — to the exactions of government upon the earnings of individuals and corporations within the state community.

It may be that Gov. Nelson shares the majority view of his constituents on the matter. It may be that Sen. Draheim does. But the traditional way to resolve the questions is through public debate. The man who resorts to name-calling in such competitions may be showing an uneasiness about the merits of his case.

Negro Health in the South

BY HARRY GOLDEN

You can segregate a race of people but you cannot segregate sickness and death. Racial segregation involves 12 million people; sickness and death involve the entire population.

The fight the Negro has brought to the courts to end racial segregation is more than a fight for human dignity. For the Negro it is also a matter of life and death.

The second highest cause of death in the south is childbirth. It claims 5,000 lives a year in North Carolina alone (and we are among the more progressive states of the South.) Where southern cities raise millions of dollars for the United Appeal, Red Cross, the March of Dimes, the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish charities, one-half of the women (Negro) giving birth labor unattended. For every 17 whites who die of pneumonia or influenza 91 Negroes succumb. For every three whites who die of diabetes, 16 Negroes die.

Poor Hospitals
In facilities, training, and supervision, Negro hospitals are far below the quality and adequacy of white hospitals. Why doesn't the Negro help himself? First of all, he is banned from 99 per cent of the white medical associations, or is he permitted in any of the training sessions of specialties. He is not allowed to intern at the best hospitals, but at the worst. Only recently was the first Negro doctor graduated from North Carolina Medical school. Negroes go from weak schools to weaker hospitals.

While a city may build a mammoth coliseum costing $3,000,000, it rarely contributes more than $1 a day for Negro charity patients. Hospitals pass the difference on to paying patients. This amounts to a tax on sickness.

While some integration is in effect at the white hospitals, the limited number of Negroes admitted are always paying patients. This helps reduce the abilities of Negro hospitals even more.

The polite and well-dressed Negro girl turned away from the white school is only a symbol for the real story. The real story is not whether well-dressed Negro children will be allowed to attend better schools. That is only the dramatic symbol of this whole rotten business of racial segregation. The real story is whether Negro mothers will die unattended in their substandard hospitals and whether the Negro infant mortality rate will continue to be 3½ times greater than the white infant mortality rate.

No Strike Hope

From The Atlantic (Ga.) Journal

Everyone is hoping that the nation will not have to endure the crisis of a railway strike. Experience has taught the futility of a transportation stoppage. The only gainers would be the other modes of transport.

Can't Understand How Father Goes Unpunished in Boy's Death

Editor, Post-Crescent:

What kind of punishment — for man or beast — is a "hot bath"? What kind of creature would knowingly permit another to use such means of punishment? What is it that could come home on a Monday eve., eat, sleep, and go back to work on a Tuesday morning, leaving its beaten, scalded offspring to die?

I have read of parents who put their children in chains; I have read of parents who burned their children on stoves; I have read of parents who broke the arms or legs of their infants; I have read of parents mistreating and torturing their children to death in so many ways that it makes me sick to my stomach.

What sickens me most is that I am a member of a society that lets them get away with it.

Isn't it just too bad that this child was also cut and beaten — if he had just been scalded, the parents could have said it was an accident, and gotten away with it. Now they can plead temporary insanity and get away with it anyway. Even by pleading guilty, they will probably not get more than 2 years in prison — law and justice in Wisconsin being the farce that it is.

For example: A little more than three years ago a man was sentenced to two years in prison for beating his child to death. On the same day another man was sentenced to five years for stealing an automobile. I remember it because I wrote to you at the time and asked if an automobile was worth more than a human life. You printed the letter; but I received not one answer to my question. I could only conclude that society did value a car above a human life. In fact, I have had occasion since to wonder if people are not more interested in the welfare of dogs than in the welfare of children. At least they are not afraid to do something about the welfare of dogs.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Opposing Kennedy and Humphrey camps spent so much in the West Virginia primary, one old mountaineer exclaimed: "Yes, West Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

The atomic sub, Triton, circles the globe without surfacing—which is more than you can say for some of our secret agents.

Lockheed says Russia faked pictures of our spy plane. Sure. Just because Mr. K was caught telling the truth once doesn't mean he's going to let it become a national habit.

Harry Truman says Ike snubbed him on inauguration day of '53. But Harry got even. He left Ike with the deficit, the Russians—and George Allen.

Some Republicans boom Gov. Rockefeller for convention key-note. Rocky's possible text for Nixon's nomination: "This is going to hurt me worse than it does you."

Khrushchev blasts the U. S. at a cocktail party as he holds his favorite drink: spy-on-the-rocks.

If you print this, please withhold my name. Yes, I am afraid, too — afraid for the lives of my children in a state where monsters are allowed to run free. The latest example of Wisconsin law and justice is that one who knowingly was a party to the scalding of his son; who admitted that he had allowed that means of punishment to be used before; who didn't feel enough remorse or pity to get a doctor for his son — he is not even being held. Society is evidently absolving him of guilt. Is he not just as guilty as the one who committed the acts?

Pro Baseball Supporter Has An Answer for Gene Kloes

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A recent article by Gene Kloes was highly critical of the City of Appleton's handling of the amateur baseball situation, and I beg your indulgence in making a brief reply.

First, I am a personal friend of Gene Kloes, and expect to be even after this article is published (as I hope it will be). Gene is an impulsive individual, prone to judge without due reflection.

Gene says the city sold out to a professional venture labeled the Fox Cities Foxes, a group of local hustlers who had heretofore shown no interest as participants or promoters of baseball. I beg to differ, as many of the directors, including the writer, participated and enjoyed viewing that means of punishment to be used before; who didn't feel enough remorse or pity to get a doctor for his son — he is not even being held. Society is evidently absolving him of guilt. Is he not just as guilty as the one who committed the acts?

1860 GOP Convention Opens

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post-Crescent for the week of May 19, 1860.

The Republican convention in Chicago, composed of black spirits and grey, met at Chicago and effected a permanent organization the same day. Ashmun, Massachusetts, a virulent Know Nothing, was chosen President. Up to the hour of going to press, no nominations have been made, the "harmonious" family are still in a wrangle over their platform.

The Bates committee has issued an address showing why he should be nominated. Thurlow Weed is talking up Seward. The Seward lobby is very strong. Horace Greeley, who is duly authenticated as a delegate from Oregon, says Seward cannot be elected.

Seward will have a large vote in the convention, but his nomination is hardly possible. Bates is out of the question, Chase will have no show. Wade of Ohio, Banks and McLean are much talked of.

Farmers got up early — as usual — that day and chinned around Washington's hotels and streets waiting for a chance to voice their support of the AAA farm program. A plea to hold on to the agricultural processing tax until industry removed the tariff was sounded by Sec. Wallace to a mass meeting of upwards of 3,000 farmers from the west and south.

Miss Mary Jane Van Ryzin was elected president of the Girls' Athletic association of Appleton High school at a banquet at Hotel Appleton. She succeeded Miss Bonnie Morris.

Gustav A. Keller, Appleton, former postmaster and the first president of the Wisconsin unit of the National Jewelers Mutual Fire Insurance company, was honored by a special greeting from directors of the association at the thirtieth annual conference of the state association which was held in Fond du Lac.

GOP Caucuses Reflect New Interest in Party

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The district conventions of the Republican party organization have been held, and the most important story they have told is perhaps the size of their attendance.

The cautious observer is inclined to offer objections to a "literal" interpretation of the fact that these "caucuses," as they are more often called, frequently attracted this year larger delegations from the county party sections than in many of the years that the Republicans held power in the state.

There is the fact that there are some lively contests for congressional nominations, for example, that brought out relatives and friends and backers of the aspirants.

There also is the fact that the recruiting effort of the their association with baseball as much as Gene did. I have played ball with and against Gene, and other directors such as Ray and Ralph McClone, Syl Timmers, Bob DiRenzo, Bob Willis and others were very active in the game. Our only interest in promoting Three I League Baseball was to satisfy the needs of the baseball fans of the area.

Maybe Gene can explain why Goodland Field was not used between 1953 (when the State league disbanded) and 1958 when professional ball was again brought to Appleton. I know whereof I speak, as I live right across from Goodland field, and for four years the field was overrun with weeds and neglected because no one wanted to use it. It is strange, but true, Gene had no interest in the field until someone else was utilizing it.

I sincerely hope that Gene Kloes and others of our fine citizens will eventually realize the benefits a professional baseball club can be to our city, and give their support rather than their criticism. The club payroll alone runs into five figures monthly, most of which is spent locally. The visiting clubs are housed and fed by local establishments which adds additional revenue.

I am sure if Gene has an amateur team looking for a place to play, something can be worked out that will not be in conflict with the schedule of the Foxes.

party is more vigorous today and has been for the last 12 months than during the easy years of GOP victories, when such mundane details tended to be neglected.

It perhaps is human for the man of Republican tendencies — or woman — to show more interest in the welfare of his party during a time of its adversity. After all, in 1950 or 1958 or in many other campaign years, there appeared to be no particular urgency about attending these rallies.

BUT YET

Yet with all that said, the observer who has attended 50 to 75 of these district conventions over the years must confess that he was impressed this year.

The on-looker is forcibly reminded of other things, moreover, that are perhaps of equal importance.

For example, while there is everywhere manifest a willingness to make an issue of the Democratic administration's first term financial record, higher spending, budget deficit, the prospect of higher state taxes, and all, there is yet no evident agreement in the ranks about the desirable direction of state tax policy in the future.

It is safe to say that the principal thinkers of the Republicans, those who have attended the details of state financial trends most carefully, like the responsible leaders in the legislature, are convinced that the sales tax is not only necessary for the balancing of the state revenue scheme, but that it cannot be longer delayed.

Yet here may be a classic illustration of the axiom that the politician must never exaggerate the information of the rank and file. There is no evident willingness among the party workers in the grass roots to accept the sales tax conclusion — if this chronicler's observations from the sidelines of half a dozen of the district conventions and some of the county rallies lately are reliable.

There is an uncertainty about other issues — combined with an envy of the Democrats for their ability to exploit them. The average Republican is deeply troubled about the practical political problem posed by Sec. Benson and only a little less by the challenge of the Democrats on the issue of government-financed medical care for the aged.

AGE CONTRAST

The party organization is not the party, but in a general way it is suggestive of the party's composition and outlook.

The observer at Republican and Democratic rallies today is struck by the contrast in age and position of representative delegates. The average age of a Republican convention will be a quarter, at the least, greater than in the Democratic convention hall. In part this is due to the fact that the GOP has long been established, and the Democratic party has grown so rapidly that most of its leaders are unusually new.

The curious on-looker must wonder, however, which is preferable in a practical way — the well-established man or woman of middle-age or beyond, with a probable influence in the neighborhood, or the moderately young or very young man or woman who will strive more energetically and enthusiastically in the persuasion of the precinct.

All other things being equal, the test will be provided next November.

Apology Demand Dooms Conference

opening session yesterday in a Khrushchev-Eisenhower explosion over aerial espionage.

It was announced earlier that Khrushchev would hold a news conference today but this was called off simultaneously with the issue of the Soviet premier's statement.

French Invitation
De Gaulle issued his invitation to today's session at the suggestion of Macmillan. Motorcycle messengers vainly sped the invitation to Sezanne, about 75 miles from Paris, where Khrushchev had gone on a motor tour.

"Gen. de Gaulle knows my position," Khrushchev said then. "He knows very well that we won't attend a conference as long as the Americans will not give us satisfaction."

A bit earlier, in a sidewalk interview, Khrushchev said he was ready to return to Moscow if his demands were not accepted.

Macmillan arrived first at de Gaulle's Elysee palace for the big three meeting. He was six minutes early. Then Eisenhower drove into the palace courtyard.

Khrushchev — back from his trip — stayed at the Soviet embassy.

The big three waited a while in the hope Khrushchev would arrive, then went on without him.

Khrushchev had stated his intentions in his informal morning news conference on the Rue de Grenelle near the Soviet embassy.

Laughing as he talked with newsmen, the Soviet premier said that unless Eisenhower apologized for U.S. flights over Soviet territory "and admits that America made an aggression against the Soviet people the conference will not start and I will return home."

Khrushchev's stand apparently killed off the last western hope of reviving the conference, which collapsed at its

Final Try.
The decision to make a final try to restore the shattered pattern of east-west diplomacy was made by de Gaulle, Eisenhower and Macmillan in a meeting at the Elysee palace this morning. Macmillan suggested the plan of calling a conference to see whether Khrushchev would attend.

De Gaulle then sent invitations for a big four session at the Elysee palace. Eisenhower and Macmillan promptly announced acceptance. Khrushchev was already on his drive and de Gaulle sent motorcycle messengers to give him the invitation at Sezanne.

While he rejected a big four gathering, Khrushchev said he was willing to call on de Gaulle.

"If it is true that Gen. de Gaulle wants to meet with me I am ready to return to the Elysee," he said.

Khrushchev then drove back for Paris.

De Gaulle apparently planned to try to bypass the bitter Soviet-American dispute over the spy plane.

Other Topics
Instead he apparently planned to try to get discussion started on such topics as disarmament and the German issues.

White House Press Sec. James C. Hagerty explained to newsmen that President Eisenhower had agreed to a second meeting because it was to be held on the issues originally set for discussion at the conference.

A British spokesman said Eisenhower had made clear he would not "attend any more propaganda sessions—he wants to get down to business as Macmillan does."

But Khrushchev was adamant that he would not participate in summit conference discussion unless Eisenhower knuckled under to his demands concerning the spy flights.

Workmen Find Wallet Stolen 10 Years Ago
Birmingham, Ala. — Workmen ripping out a carpet in a First Baptist church found a billfold the owner says was stolen 10 years ago.

The bill fold contained identification papers for Charles B. Dowdy of Birmingham, and two $50 U. S. savings bonds.

Mrs. Dowdy said the billfold was stolen "far from the church premises," and at the time contained enough money to cause a financial hardship.

But she added: "We're happy to get back the two savings bonds, especially now that they've matured."

Terrible Timmy, a 14-month-old baby gorilla, appears to be laughing at something Memphis, Tenn., park superintendent Hal Lewis had just told him. Actually he was putting on the laughing act because Lewis was tickling him in the ribs. Timmy was purchased by the Memphis zoo for $4,500 from a Kansas City veterinarian.

Western Europe Turns Against Soviet Leader

fears a summit breakdown

would lead to another bout of cold war bitterness and tension.

"This might be the beginning of the most serious political crisis in years," said Stockholm-Tidningen.

In neutral Austria, the Independent Die Presse said the Soviets "seem no longer interested in relaxation of international tension."

Reversal of Policy
Former French Premier Paul Reynaud foresaw "a reversal of the policy of peaceful coexistence and even the friendship that Khrushchev developed during his stay in the United States and France."

Some Paris newspapers saw in the Soviet premier's attitude a reflection of pressure from the military at home.

Foreign editor Roger Massip of Figaro said the military chiefs in Moscow had been profoundly disturbed to learn that "for four years the territory of the U.S.S.R. had been flown over and photographed." He suggested that Marshal Rodion Malinovsky might be hovering at Khrushchev's side at the conference as a watchdog.

The mass circulation Parisien said Eisenhower had shown himself to be most con-governor's tax proposal accordingly.

Nelson told legislators: "It does not seem to me that it should take long now to complete the work of this session."

But that Khrushchev brushed aside French and British attempts at mediation.

Supports Soviets
The communist L'Humanite supported Khrushchev. "Eisenhower, duly warned, holds in his hands the fate of the conference," it said.

Two independent papers in Frankfurt, Germany, carried identical headlines: "Khrushchev Torpedoes Summit Conference."

"Suddenly there is a somber outlook for the world situation," said the Frankfurt Rundschau. "The great danger is that the Soviet Union believes it has military supremacy with which it can press its political aims."

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano hurried back to Paris. Mayor Willy Brandt's West Berlin government said it would be "deeply disappointing and upsetting" if the Soviets broke off the summit conference before it really began.

Britain's Conservative Daily Mail warned that a summit breakdown could be "the worst blow to peaceful coexistence for years."

"It could be followed by heightened tension and a worse atmosphere," it said.

With conscientious effort, you can finish up and go home—for good—in 10 days.

Plug Leaphole

Nelson said, however, that instead of keeping the 20 per cent surtax, it should be reduced to 10 per cent and a leaphole in the income tax plugged by taxing banks and building and loan institutions to raise the $4 million that would be lost by reducing the surtax.

Nelson said neither he nor his administration makes any claim to having created the situation because it is economic, not government, that operated to the state's advantage.

Nelson noted that income tax collections are now 94 per cent complete and his administration is in a better position to analyze the fiscal situation of the state.

Collections Up
He said as the result of prosperity the state's share of corporation tax collections have been raised by $3,300,000.

The governor said that collections from individual income taxes will bring the state $3 million more than before.

"As a result of all these factors the net improvement in our general fund is $19,200,000," he said. "In other words, the gap between expenditures and revenues is only about $4 million."

Nelson said the increases he cited apply only to the state's share of the various taxes collected, adding:

"Local governments which receive shares of some of these taxes will experience a corresponding increase in revenue. This will have a beneficial effect on local property taxes."

Space Ship May Have Lost Flow Of Even Flight

New York — Russia's huge 41-ton "space ship" was sighted over New York early today by one observer as a pulsing streak of light.

This could indicate it was tumbling in its flight rather than being on an even keel, or else that its special cabin now has been set free.

The satellite, as seen from suburban Long Island, sped up from the southern sky on schedule as a bright point of light. But the light faded, grew bright, faded again and grew bright in regular rhythm, passing northeasternly across a sky almost clear of clouds. Stars were clearly visible above it.

Tumbling of a "space ship" could be bad for any humans aboard, putting them out of control unless they could correct the spin.

Moscow has announced that the huge satellite contained a of fiscal information, are talking about taking one of four possible actions to handle the deficit that was reported to have shrunk to $4 million. He said it is unlikely the governor's proposal to tax banks and building and loan institutions would pass the Republican senate.

The possible actions include adjourning, leaving the governor with emergency powers to cut appropriations; declaring a moratorium on the replacement of state employees; adopting the Draheim plan for an overall cut in the executive budget, or raising the surtax temporarily by 5 per cent to effect a $5 million increase in revenue.

21-ton pressurized cabin which, upon signal, would be separated from its carrier, presumably with backward-firing rockets.

This propulsive force in separation could set either the cabin or its carrier off course or spinning.

Charlie Describes Sights, Sounds Of New Orleans' French Quarter

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

New Orleans — Down Bourbon street I walked, into the old French quarter which was named in honor of the then regent of France, Louis Philippe, Duc d'Orleans — one of the most famous playboys who ever walked the earth . . . it was well and suitably named . . .

The frescoes, the lacework of cast iron balconies catch the eye . . . they are beautiful and unique and many of them are hand-made in Philadelphia long ago . . . the streets are thronged with tourists who, wonder wide-eyed

Pitchmen, raucous-voiced and blatant, sing their songs of temptation "Don't be bashful, men. Walk into the Blue Angel." "Show's just starting, fellows — cold beer every time, all the time!" . . . "OOOOO, Gentlemen! Won't you join us? Beautiful girls! Come on in!"

An old man, bewhiskered with grey hair which seems to cover everything but an ancient pipe and two bright little eyes, looks at you, forlornly and speaks uninter-

Charles House has returned to Wisconsin from New Orleans. Before he left that city he strolled through the famed French Quarter. Here are his impressions.

Ugly but you think he says he is a painter. He does not have his wares with him, but he stretches out a palm. He is known in the quarter as "Foxy Grandpa."

Shoeshine Boy
A shoeshine boy has erected a chair for customers. His badly lettered sign reads "shine you'lls shoes."

A not-so-very-pretty woman hands you a flyer and smiles. The flyer reads "Professional male and female escorts for all occasions — a tax deductible service for businessmen."

You enter the old opera house with your photographer to get "flavor" and you order two bottles of beer. These are brought out promptly and so is the in-

Other Landmarks

The old Absynthe House, most famed of all the buildings in the old city, was erected in 1806 and earned its fame from Absynthe, the first art studio of John Audubon, on Barracks street. The haunted house at 1140 Royal street so called because it is said a high bred lady, Mme LaLurie, here tortured her slaves so seriously that she was run out of Louisiana. She returned to France and remained there until death.

The home of Gen. Beauregard at 934 Royal street has a cast iron decoration of love bird design, a strange motif for a man of war . . . and a unique corn-stalk fence made of wrought and cast iron, complete with iron ears of corn and entwined morning glories. The fence was made in 1859.

The La Branche building at Royal and St. Peter is the most photographed structure in old New Orleans because of its beautiful and delicate cast iron traceries which decorate many balconies of the old buildings. The court of Two Sisters at 613 Royal street is a beautiful garden restaurant where trees are lush and Spanish moss hangs gracefully, while birds sing and tourists play their cameras.

Oldest Restaurant

Antoine's is the oldest restaurant in New Orleans, at 713 St. Louis street. It is now being conducted by the third generation descended from Antoine Alaiore who opened the doors in 1882.

The Antique shop at 437 Royal street has fame which rests on a singular discovery — the cocktail. Here it was born in about 1816 in the then drug store of A. A. Peychaud. The cocktail's correct name was picked from the title of a piece of table crockery known by the French as coquetier and pronounced ko-k-tay. The coquetier was the jigger used to make the drink . . . That original cocktail was made of sugar, cognac and aromatic bitters.

The old blacksmith shop hangout of the pirates, Jean and Pierre LaFite, is at 941 Bourbon street.

New Orleans was founded in 1717 and the streets are all most identical in width — 38 feet, but they are different and among the most exciting in our land.

Your Problems

Wife Doesn't Have to be Extra Kind to Hubby's Boss

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: My husband is a bright, young executive who wants to set the world on fire. He was promoted and transferred to this city a few weeks ago.

Our second night in town his boss invited us to dinner at a very expensive restaurant. The boss is married but it's common knowledge he seldom takes his wife anywhere.

I felt his eyes on me all evening. He tried to hold my hand and sit too close. Last week he took us to dinner on dancing every number between dinner courses. He held me so tight I thought he'd crack a rib. Any fool can guess what the old baboon has in mind.

What makes me furious is my husband seems pleased I've made a hit. I don't want to spoil his chances for advancement with this company but I refuse to play this kind of game. How shall I handle it?—Sacrificial Lamb

DEAR LAMB: Since your husband is reluctant to get off his grey flannel trousers and put an end to his boss' idiosyncrasy, it's up to you. Tell him you refuse to go along on future dinners unless the boss brings his wife. If the old lecher phones you give him the message first-hand.

Don't feel you must allow him any extra privileges beyond ordinary politeness. If your husband's business success hinges on your romping with his multi-handed boss, you've overestimated his ability.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter signed "Ex-Camp" really gave me a charge.

As the owner of a small motel I'm plagued every season by cheap-skates who've had a belly full of the "robust outdoor life" and seek comfort from civilization.

This is the way they work it. A man will come into the motel office and say he wants a single room for his wife to spend the night in. He says "The little woman has had enough of the woods for a while, but the kids and I love to camp out in sleeping bags and all that stuff."

When it gets dark the whole family moves into the wife's single room for the night. They sleep on the floor in air-conditioned comfort, away from the mosquitoes and gnats. The whole family uses

Busy Towns Mean Cleanliness Care

Although we Americans are becoming more cleanliness conscious personally these days our surroundings are tending in the other direction. Cities are becoming more crowded with dust and smoke increasing in proportion.

Our Children Mothers Must Manage Temper Tantrums

BY ANGELO PATRI

Children, from babyhood up, fly into rages, have tantrums, and as they grow display furious tempers when they kick and fling and roar. That is all a part of growing up.

When a small child of 2 to 3 throws himself on the floor and pounds himself on its unyielding surface, his mother should pick him up and divert his attention. I saw one mother pick up the howling, thrashing youngster, by the back of his rompers, toss him up on her shoulder saying, "Come, your mother's little bundle of love," and laugh so contagiously that the little kicker gave one last gumping sob, grabbed his mother's cheeks by either hand and broke into a broad grin. A wonderful way to treat a tantrum, if one can manage it.

Children have to be trained out of this way of releasing their resentments, their anger, lest they carry that attitude of "fighting mad" after the time when they should have found ways of ridding themselves of it by more intelligent means.

Primative Action

By the time boys and girls reach adolescence they should have learned that there are better means of holding their own, of settling disputes than the use of fists and sticks and stones.

Getting fighting mad just because one can't always have his own way is a primitive reaction that maturity discards. It takes good teaching to accomplish this in the children's behavior but it can be done.

There is a time for everything, even for getting angry, but one should be very patient up to that time. There are few crises in the lives of men that cannot be met by other measures. It is for adults to teach children and youth the discipline of constructive thinking and the good judgment that teaches forbearance and tolerance. When the limit is reached these well-disciplined people know how to meet it.

Angelo Patri offers readers jeets concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet, P-25 "Standards of Development," send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 90, Station G, New York 18, N.Y.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Lovely Is the Bride

The cosmetics a bride wears on her wedding day should be specially chosen, so that she appears as fair or fairer than her gown.

For the bride who plans to wear a white or pastel gown, the ideal cosmetic selection is this:

Foundation and powder in a shade that is several degrees lighter than your skin tone, but complementary to it. This choice causes your skin to appear more delicate, but without changing its basic coloring. In other words, you look like yourself, only better!

Lipstick and nail polish, keyed to the palest shade that flatters you.

The scheme can also be recommended to brides wearing darker attire, particularly those with brunet complexions. The lipstick and nail polish, however, may be stronger—a deep pastel.

Although a bride has never worn rouge, it is possible that she should do so on her wedding day. This is a certainty, if she usually grows pale from excitement or emotion. With a little rouge, she will appear as radiant as she feels.

And without question, the radiant bride is the "fairest of them all!"

later, so you can afford to sit back and wait for them. West opened the king of hearts, and dummy's ace won Declarer finessed the 10 of spades around to the king, and West tried to cash the queen of hearts. South ruffed with the jack of spades and led a low trump to dummy's eight. Then he finessed the queen of diamonds to West's king. This is where West got panicky. He saw the long diamond suit in the dummy and feared that declarer would discard his club losers on the diamonds. With a now-or-never look on his face, West led out the ace of clubs and continued with another club. South gratefully won a trick with the king of clubs and took the rest of the tricks to make his game contract. Counting Helps Now let's get back to the idea of counting up to 13. When West takes the king of diamonds he knows that South started with only five trumps and one heart. West cannot tell how many diamonds South started with, but he does know that South was dealt 13 cards. Since only six of them were in spades and hearts, South was surely dealt a total of seven cards in diamonds and clubs. No matter how South's seven cards in diamonds and clubs are split, after he has finished with five rounds of diamonds he is sure to have two clubs left in his hand. Hence there is no need to worry about the clubs West can afford to wait. West should return a diamond after taking his king. South will run the diamonds, getting rid of two clubs, but he will eventually have to lose two club tricks. Daily Question Dealer, at your right, bids one heart. You hold S—A Q J 7 4, H—7, D—A 8 3, C—K 10 8 4. What do you say? Answer: Bid one spade. If partner raises you can try for game. You are not strong enough to begin with a take-out double and then bid your spades later. (Copyright, 1960)

Everything at Rummage Sale

BY JEAN HAMMOND
To rummage means to search and the recent sale sponsored by King's Daughters brought forth many Appleton citizens who did just that. They came for many reasons. Some search for need, not all of us can replenish our wardrobes so economically. Others go out of curiosity, there might be something they could really use. A few want the thrill of finding a bargain, a pair of trousers for 25 cents or a blouse for a nickel is worth the trip. And one or two go just to be going someplace. Outside the door that leads to the big room in the Congregational church basement a little boy and girl dressed in warm patched jackets play on a spot of green grass. Inside, bits of Appleton probe stacks of clothing and house hold items with penetrating eyes and seeking fingers. A woman, not old in ears perhaps, but appearing so goes through a pile of boys' trousers. She picks up a pair shakes them out, stretches the waist, and looks for a size marking. "Can I help you?" a slender young worker asks.

Size 16—or 18
"Yeah," the woman replies in a soft tired voice, "I need size 16."
The woman helps her look "Here," she says at last. "These are marked 16."
The woman holds them up and judges.
"Maybe I need 18," she shakes her head. "He's fat through the seat."
A short little woman whose hair hangs in cork-screw curls from under a black felt hat stops in front of summer straw confections. There's a yellow bonnet with oranges and lemons around the crown, a pink beaded cloche, a large brimmed white straw with two wilted roses in front, and a picture hat with a white ribbon and a spray of yellow daisies. The little lady takes off her black felt and stuffs it into her pocket. She examines the picture hat closely, then turns around looking for a mirror. There is none. Hesitantly she puts on the big hat. It fits. She tries it a couple of times, getting the feel of it. She leaves it on and goes to another table. "But You Never Dance" "Now what would you do with something like that?" her companion asks realistically. "You never dance."

"I know it," she answers. "But wouldn't it be fun in shoes like these?" Oh, well, they probably wouldn't fit anyhow. She puts them back on the table and shifts the load of children's overalls and shirts and underwear to the other arm.

A be-whiskered stoop-shouldered man wearing grey trousers, a blue suit coat and worn brown shoes pokes through the pile of men's shirts and pants. He puts several items over his arm and goes on to the pots and pans. Almost anything you could

Some for Indians
All over the room the search goes on. The woman with the picture hat looks through a rack of women's suits. A stout black-haired woman examines a slinky black chiffon formal. Two girls whose arms are loaded with children's clothing try on hats, laughing at each other. A pony-tailed lady in a white leather jacket looks at toys. An old man with shaking hands turns over a delicate candy dish. A woman in a cotton skirt rummages through boys' shoes.

"What do you do with what's left?" two women ask a worker. "We'd like to buy some of it for the Indians."

People stop at the desk to pay for their purchases. The little lady in the big hat pays for hers and is about to walk out. She stops at the door and comes back, taking the hat off her head and putting it on the desk.

In Good Taste No Wrong In These Situations

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Our 16-year-old daughter has a boy friend who lives across town, about a 2-hour drive from here. We have known his parents for many years but only renewed our friendship with them this last year through mutual friends. On two occasions this boy has invited our daughter to attend dances at his school as his date. Because of the distance his parents arranged to have our daughter stay at their house for the weekend and we would drive over Sunday to pick her up and take her home. This worked out very well and we felt there was no impropriety in the arrangement. Now, our daughter would like to invite this boy to one of her school functions and the question arises as to whether or not he could spend the night with us. We like the boy and want to be hospitable, but for some reason we have the feeling that this reverse set-up would imply a more serious attachment than actually exists. What do you think of both situations?

Answer: There is absolutely nothing wrong in either situation, and if in order to spare him his long lonely trip home, you wish to invite him to spend the night with you, I'm sure no one will think it implies any more than just that.

Ask For Water
Dear Mrs. Post: When a person is invited to a party where liquor is served and he (or she) doesn't care for anything strong, is it improper to ask the hostess, or host, for a non-alcoholic beverage even though there is none on the tray?

Answer: I have always said that a hostess should have a non-alcoholic beverage for those of her guests who may not want a strong drink. However, if none is proffered, you cannot really ask for one. The only thing you can ask for is a glass of water. Then the hostess could say, "Would you like some lemonade, or tomato juice" or whatever she may have that is non-alcoholic.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-26, entitled, "Serving Cocktails," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E P, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 98, Station G, New York 18, N. Y.

American Women Search for Quality

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you had a chance to represent all of America's homebuilders and to tell them what women want in a new house today, I'll wager that quality would be a dominant theme running through about everything you would say.

I'll wager that you'd astound the homebuilders with your understanding of what quality in a house means, with your awareness of the fact that real quality is hidden in such fundamentals as insulation and plumbing. I'll wager that you'd humble them with your knowledge that perimeter heating gives even heat, a circuit breaker reduces the hazard of fire, copper pipes assure rust-free plumbing, etc.

If you had an opportunity to speak for all of America's women before the nation's food distributors, textile makers, cosmetic manufacturers, auto executives, and to tell these industrialists what you want from their products, here too I'll bet quality would be a major theme of your desires and demands.

I'll bet you'd amaze these groups with your increasing grasp of the vital difference between style and quality, your growing ability to discriminate, evaluate the usefulness of products. I'll bet you'd make it unmistakably clear that newness alone no longer is enough to attract your dollars, you want reliable assurance a product will live up to the claims made for it.

A week from today, 100 women from every part of the United States will meet in Washington for the third National Congress on Better Living, sponsored by McCall's magazine. The 100, chosen out of thousands to speak for the millions of us, participated in regional meetings in 150 cities this past fall.

People Will Listen

The two previous McCall's congresses have demonstrated the simple but profound fact that the way to find out what women want is to listen to them. The delegates to the 1957 and 1958 congresses called the turn on the revival of traditional taste in houses, the tremendous demand for more bedrooms and bathrooms. At next week's 3 day conference, top executives of the housing, auto, food, cosmetics industries will listen intently to every criticism and suggestion the women make.

I don't know what the 100 delegates will say next week, but as a homemaker myself, I can make some informed guesses.

They'll tell American businessmen, I think, that we are weary to the explosion point of shoddy workmanship in every sphere, are increasingly willing to pay up in price if we can be confident of quality. Most women aren't young children disappear into places where anything can happen before we can reach them.

They'll explain, I trust, that we've been fooled so many times by promotions of inferior goods as quality products that we're beginning to yearn for some old-fashioned merchandising. Perhaps they'll mention that while more and more supermarkets are stressing pre-cut and pre-packaged meats, more and more of us are swinging back to custom-cuts where we can see what we're buying.

In short, I think they'll pound home the message that we women know that there are no excuses now for lack of quality. I surely hope this is the message — and I pray that all American businessmen will heed it well.

Many Lifting Injuries Occur Around Home

Need a friend to give you a lift with transporting those bags of cement, fertilizer and other heavy items that frequently must be moved around the home?

The Institute for Safer Living warns that a large number of lifting injuries occur at home, and that muscle or vertebrae strains from this cause often produce serious complications. A mover is recommended as a family moving helper because it is close to the ground or floor — can be run under an object to be moved without undue physical effort.

Step Stool, Ladder Important Safety Items in Every Home

Reach Pardon—but be sure that you do it correctly! Many chores around the home involve reaching high places, such as fixing curtains, painting walls and ceiling or getting things off shelves.

The Institute for Safer Living suggests that in order to reach safely, you must first have something sturdy to stand on—an approved step stool or a small step ladder is a safety must in every home. Any other object not intended expressly for climbing is a poor and dangerous substitute.

Handle Broken Glass With Care

People who live in glass houses — and there's glass in every home — should clean up the broken pieces. According to the Institute for Safer Living, cuts rank high on the list of home injuries. Many of these, particularly the more serious ones, result from broken glass and plastics.

Larger jagged pieces should be picked up carefully and wrapped in thick paper for disposal, or better still, placed in a special metal container marked "broken glass." Use damp cotton to swab up tiny powdery particles. Never leave broken glass to be "picked up later."

Building Pact Approved, No Strike Ahead

Unions OK Contract
Giving Carpenters,
Laborers 25-Cents

The majority of building trades workers in the Fox river valley have accepted the contractors' offer of a 2-year pact negotiated last week. The carpenters and laborers unions received a 25-cent package, the masons a 22-cent contract.

Still to be negotiated are utility contractors, but they historically have followed the general contractors formula. Some 8,000 to 8,000 construction workers from Green Bay to Fond du Lac were affected by the 2-month negotiating marathon. Their old contract expired April 1, and some talk of a strike developed. However, extremely wet weather tended to slow up construction activity; hence the possibility of a strike was never very near.

Wage Boosts

The wage boosts negotiated by the laborers union included an 8-cent boost May 9, a 10-cent vacation pay Oct. 3 and a 7-cent hike April 1, 1961, anniversary date of the contract. Details of the vacation pay are to be worked out, because it is a new feature of building trades' contracts in this area. Carpenters signed for a 5-cent

Would-be Bank Robber Admits Holdup Attempt

Milwaukee—A—One of the three persons charged with attempting to rob the Nichols State bank Feb. 28 pleaded guilty in U. S. District court Monday. Judge Kenneth P. Grubb ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Leonard R. Lepley, 39, of Milwaukee. A second count against Lepley was dismissed.

The other man among the trio, Earl W. Wing of Shiocton, stood mute when asked to plead, and an innocent plea was entered for him.

Mrs. Ann Schley, 38, of Milwaukee, pleaded innocent to the charge May 6.

Lepley was charged with entering the bank with a gun, Wing and Mrs. Schley with waiting outside in a car. The trio was arrested a scant three hours after the attempted holdup after their car had a flat tire. The gunman was driven out of the bank by a cashier brandishing a revolver.

boost May 9, 10-cent vacation pay Oct. 3, 5-cent hike May 4, 1961, and a 5 cent raise Oct. 1, 1961.

Laborers district council accepted the pact three to one. Locals in three cities okayed it, one did not. However, the contract is in force by a majority vote.

Masons accepted a 22-cent contract earlier.

Five Men Will Graduate From AVS Farm Course

Five young farmers will graduate from the Appleton Vocational and Adult school agriculture course at 8 p.m. today at St. Nicholas Catholic church, Freedom.

The graduates are John Ebben, Richard Lesselyoung, LeRoy Van Asten, Alvin Kramer and Paul Riehl. Diplomas will be awarded by Carl A. Bertram, director of the Appleton school.

Graduates will be introduced by Leonard Warner, agriculture instructor. On the committee in charge of the graduation ceremony are Melvin Blohm and David Timm, both of Seymour, and Myron Vande Walle, Oneida. Music will be provided by a quartet from the Crystal Lake 4-H club. Ted Montyette, Appleton magician, will provide entertainment.

4-H Sets Fun Fete

New London — The Waukegan county 4-H clubs will hold their annual "fun-nite" program at 8 p.m. Friday at the hall at Bear Lake, according to David Bridges, publicity chairman.

Social Security

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: I worked steady under social security up until two years ago when at the age of 38 I became permanently injured on the job. I haven't filed for disability under social security, as I do not want it to interfere with my state workmen's compensation. However, I am wondering if I am mistaken on this and if I should do something about my social security?

A: By all means. Because of a recent change in the social security law, you may be eligible for both workmen's compensation and social security disability payments. Get in touch with your social security office now about filing a claim.

Q: I have a son who is now 32 years old and has been disabled since he was born. I am drawing social security retirement benefits, and wonder if there is any way that payments can be made for my son. My other children contribute most of his support, and when I inquired some time ago about getting benefits for him, I was told that I had to be supporting him before he would be eligible. Has there been any change in this requirement?

A: Yes, there has. As of September 1958, the law was changed so that benefits can be paid even if the parent is not providing one-half a disabled child's support. You should contact your social security office immediately.

Q: I am drawing disability benefits and I have a little grandson living with me. Can I draw social security for him?

A: No, you won't be able to get social security benefits for him, based on your wage record, unless he has been adopted by you.

The social security administration office is in the courthouse annex, 601 S. Kim street, Appleton.

Seek Two Changes in Plat
For Arrowhead Subdivision

Appleton's planning commission has given conditional approval to a preliminary plat for Arrowhead subdivision.

Final approval depends on developers giving the city an easement for water mains at the end of Seminole court so the water department can avoid a dead end connection, and dedicating 30 feet for an alley between Seneca street and Chicago and North Western railroad tracks to serve a 2-family and multiple family dwelling area.

The subdivision is bounded on the north by the railroad tracks, on the east by Perkins streets, on the south by Prospect avenue and on the west by unplatted land. It is in an area already annexed to the city.

Commissioners voted 3 to 2 to abandon the present 20-foot rear yard requirement for lots on the south side of Wisconsin avenue between Superior and Clark streets.

Dedicated for Alley

The 20 foot strip eventually was to become an alley. Tentative location of the alley puts it where it would bisect a vacant lot. By moving the alley south as has been proposed, it would go through the middle of an existing home at the other end of the block.

Property owners asked late last year that rear yard requirement be abandoned. The commission also agreed to rezone from a residential to commercial and light industrial district a lot facing Douglas street between Wisconsin avenue and Summer street.

Appleton High Junior
To Spend Summer in Philippine Islands

Mary Lawless, Appleton High school junior, will spend the summer in Morangi Rizal, Philippine Islands, as a participant in the American Field Service summer program.

She will stay with the six members of the Raymonds family there — the father, a steamship line claims agent; the mother, a nurse who now keeps house and raises poultry; three daughters, 16, 14 and 7, and a son, 5.

Miss Lawless will attend a public school, which is supported by the International Cooperation agency and the national government. She will both learn about the Philippines and the life of its people and teach people there about the United States.

Youth, 18, to be
Sentenced May 24

Novel on Food Industry, New Kremlin Volume Outstanding

BY W. G. ROGERS
AP Arts Editor

"Brother, Which Drummer?" by Robert Musser Brown. Harcourt, Brace, $4.50.

It never occurred to me that I could be interested in the food industry as a fiction subject, but I couldn't have been more mistaken.

I relished a couple of hay-makers swung by our pugna-cious hero. And as an indica-tion of how far I was swept off my feet by this exuberant writer, I don't even quib-ble at what must be the first quicksand scene to harrow a reader since Hugo's "Les Miserables" 98 years ago.

Above all I was absorbed by the people regardless of the occupation. Jim Pulliam the go-getter and his unnecessary wife, the old aunt who loves to tell about the time Taftina, the came to call, a girl named Howard Freeman's whirlwind courtship of Eve, a rare, touching, tugging love duel.

This novel with its super-abundance of good writing layout and design make this wit and drive. It overflows with a welcome wealth of those telling ideas, notions and observations which make it as real as your own job, as real as your own fears and dreams, as real as your very own girl and the high, fine, laughing way you went after her.

"The Kremlin," by David Douglas Duncan. New York Graphic society, $25.

After considerable difficul-ties in getting the pictures, and further difficulties in finding a publisher to take on this expensive project, Dun-can gives us a thrilling col-lection of scenes.

Great snowy Moscow square, bursting fireworks, processions, vast halls, cham-bers, mural decorations, the delicate Faberge Easter egg, the priceless gowns, the mas-sive thrones of czar and czar-ess, the jeweled crowns, the gold maid mace, sword and croelinka, and principally, the paneled coaches.

The Duncan text, the 83 color reproductions of Dun-can photos, and the handsome layout and design make this not a book, but a spectacle.

Cuban Bank President Veteran Revolutionary

'Che' Guevara Has Come Long Way
Since Early Days in Guatemala

Havana—Ernesto (Che) Guevara has come a long way since serving his apprenticeship in revolutions six years ago in Guatemala. Today he is president of the National Bank of Cuba. He also is an important member of the triumvirate that rules the nation—considered no less influential nor less close to Fidel Castro than the third member, Castro's brother Raul. Cubans who still cling unreservedly to the Castro bandwagon appear inclined to believe where Guevara is concerned. In less revolution-mind circles, there is open

Why were the nation's financial fortunes placed in the hands of a man barely in his 30s, lacking in banking experience? Cubans who express apprehension over the path the national economy is taking are asking themselves that question. Castro, appointed Guevara to succeed Felipe Pazos, of hemisphere banking renown, as head of the National bank last November. Castro praised Guevara for achievements as the economic genius behind the revolution. If there was any criticism of Pazos' conservative policies, it did not come out in the open. Rancid Cubans did not take long to manifest their feelings. Rums developed on several banks. In Guatemala Guevara has told reporters he left Argentina July 4, 1963, and was in Mexico and was in Guatemala at the time of the revolution that unseated the leftwing government of Jacobo Arbenz in 1954. One source says Guevara worked as a physician in the Guatemalan capital but diplomatic sources here claim Guevara also was "specific counselor" to Arbenz. In 1966, Guevara says, he City and was impressed by the latter's revolutionary aims in Cuba. He joined the movement and was in the expedition that invaded Cuba late the same year. Is he the American-hating architect of the government propaganda apparatus? Or is he just a fighting idealist obsessed with Castro's revolution? Personal Charm Those close to him say Guevara does not make any effort to conceal his bitterness toward the United States. Guevara told reporters soon after the revolution triumphed that he was a leftist but not a communist. There is no question about

A Wagon of Food, enough to last a hungry family until the father gets well and goes back to work or until the procedures of obtaining government relief are completed, is given by the Salvation Army. Capt. James Coleman of the Appleton Salvation Army, is shown here in a phase of his work. ## Until Relief Comes Salvation Army Helps Sad, Hungry Children

A baby's thin whimper is heard from the corner. A little girl with grave eyes looks up solemnly and a quiet voice whispers, "Mommy, I am hungry."

The woman with sagging shoulders comforted her daughter and said, "Everything is going to be all right — somehow."

Resolutely she got her brood dressed and started off by foot to the large building in the center of town. Here, with no pressure, she tells her simple story.

Hungry Now
Living on the borderline of making ends meet, the family was thrown off balance when her husband was forced to go to the hospital a few days before payday. Yes, relief would be coming, but there were reports to be filled and procedures to follow, meaning a delay of several days. Her children were hungry now.

The Appleton Salvation Army provides emergency temporary relief to about 2,500 families every year. This is mainly enough groceries for a few days and some housing facilities for the Appleton Salvation Army, the campaign committee this month is trying to raise $125,000 to build a new headquarters, according to Cecil Furringer, chairman. The new Salvation Army building will be on the present lot on the corners of Morrison and North streets, and will be a smaller, more compact and useful building, he said.

There are over 63 million women (14 years of age and over) in the U. S. who make or influence 85% of all consumer purchases. To sell women as well as the men and teenage daily newspaper readers, national advertisers invested an estimated $765 million in newspapers last year.

Tavern Operators Ask 2 a.m. Closing Hour During DST Period

Ordinance to be Presented Tonight to Menasha Council; 2 Bars in Brin

Menasha — Thirty of Menasha's 32 tavern operators have signed a petition asking for a 2 a. m. closing hour during daylight saving time, the Menasha common council learned Monday at its committee of the whole meeting.

The ordinance and resolution committee Monday night unanimously approved a 2 a. m. closing hour ordinance and will recommend passage by the full council tonight.

The 2 a. m. closing will not apply to beer-only bars, which still must observe the 1 a. m. closing.

And because two taverns are in the same building, the Brin, Menasha, actually will have 33 places where liquor is sold. (Menasha is limited to 32 liquor tavern licenses on the basis of population.)

Aldermen learned Robert W. Ruelle, operator of the Blue Ribbon bar, 7 Main street, plans to operate the bar in the basement bowling alleys. To try to make sure liquor can be sold downstairs, the Melvin company, operator of the bowling alleys and Brin building, also applied for its own liquor license.

Subject of Dispute The Melvin firm was trying to get the license now issued to Earl J. Peters, who formerly operated the bowling alley and bar there. That license last month was subject of a dispute between Peters and the Melvin firm, which the council resolved in favor of Peters.

A request by the Polish Falcons athletic association for a permit for a picnic June 10-12 led to one alderman's commenting on the park and recreation's planned outlawing of organization picnics in parks: "We should keep a very close watch on them. I'm not in favor of closing parks."

Mayor John Klein said he also heard the board was trying to force Coel Brothers to remove their three carp fish-state department of agriculture and the master of ceremonies will be William A. Steiger.

Survivors are a son, David G. Voss of Menasha; a daughter, Donna Ruth Rees of Rapid City, S.D.; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stommel of Menasha; and 10 grandchildren.

Two girls will be crowned at the banquet to represent the district.

Figures in the Killing of Marlin Fritz, 37, Oshkosh, were returned to their cells after being arraigned on first degree murder charges Monday afternoon. At the left, Francis Clayton, 18, attempts to cover his face while being led by Jailer Glen Blink. Mrs. Glen Blink, matron, left, leads Mrs. Victoria Fritz, 30, the dead man's widow. Following them are Police Inspector Elmer Ludwig, who solved the murder case, left, and Policeman Donald Utecht.

Strict Policy Set on Giving Out ID Cards

Oshkosh — Identification cards for persons reaching their 18th birthday will henceforth be issued only upon presentation of the applicant's birth certificate or baptismal record, Register of Deeds Bernice L. Fuller announced Monday.

No longer will other types of identification be used for ID cards.

The ID cards also from now on will be mailed to the parent of the applicant rather than given to the applicant, Miss Fuller said. An extra 10 cents is being added to the present $1 charge to take care of the postage.

The stricter action is being taken because of reports young people were falsifying their ages or records to secure the identification cards. The cards are used to establish proof of age for admission to beer bars for those over 18 years of age and to taverns for those who have reached their 21st birthday.

Finnish Chancellor of Justice Spends Day Visiting in Neenah

Neenah — Second in importance to the president of Finland is Olavi Honka, chancellor of justice, who spent part of Sunday and Monday in the Twin Cities.

Honka, who was accompanied by his wife, was taken to supper at First Presbyterian church Sunday evening; then to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franz Vaurio, Appleton, to visit with local Finnish-Americans.

Monday morning he spent some time talking with Mayor Chester S. Bell and Charles Veite, Neenah attorney. Mrs. Hans Hefti took the Honkas on a brief sightseeing tour. Particularly interesting to the Honkas was the drive-in banking window at National Manufacturers bank. They remarked that there was nothing like that in Finland, and took pictures to show their local bankers.

Mrs. Hefti took them to the Neenah High school where they visited with H. O. Borgen, dropped in on several classes and lunched in the cafeteria.

Named for Life

Honka's mother founded the largest private school in Turku, Finland, a town 730 years old. There are 50 state schools and 200 private schools in his country, he said, and the government gives all schools 90 per cent of their support. His work has been satisfactory, they can no longer be dismissed and are kept on until they voluntarily retire or die.

"I represent the highest guardian of the law," he said. "All citizens can approach me when they think they have been mistreated by public authorities and I make the final decision. Any one in the country may come to my office to see me."

When asked for an expression of his views on politics, Honka was horrified. "I have no political views," he said. "I have served under six governments. My department has nothing to do with politics."

The Honkas are returning from the west coast and will spend a few more weeks visiting in the east before they return to their own country.

When asked about his position Honka said, "I am appointed for life by the president. When a chancellor of justice retires or dies, another chancellor is appointed by the president. A chancellor is supposed to offer to retire when he is 67," he said with a twinkle. "But he doesn't have to offer. If the president wants him to stay he may do so."

"It is a non-political job entirely — mostly advising the president on law. Therefore I must attend all cabinet meetings and occasions when bills are presented for his signature."

Appoints Prosecutors

Honka appoints all prosecutors in all the cities in Finland. After six months, if

Make certain your car is in the best condition for many miles of happy, safe driving this summer, warns Dan Luebke's City Service. This can be done effectively by checking off the items to be checked this month and next by the Motor Vehicle department.

The items to be covered in the safety check will include brakes, headlights, taillamps, signal lights, horn, steering wheel, tires, rear-view mirror, muffler and windshield wipers.

More emphasis will be made this year on the effectiveness of the car's windshield wipers, Dan Luebke said. This year, in recognition of the need to maintain excellent visibility, check-lane authorities will test the ability of the wiper arms and blades to maintain their intended effectiveness under all kinds of weather or road spray conditions.

400 Junior Historians Meet, See Door County

Sun Beams Brightly as Grade School Pupils Delve Into History, Colorful Legends

BY BERT PARMENTIER
Post-Crescent News Service
Sturgeon Bay — Some 400 Junior Historians from 13 counties met in Door county Saturday for their regional convention. The grade schoolers are all members of a program sponsored by the State Historical society.

Participating counties included Brown, Calumet, Door, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Kewaunee, Manitowoc, Marquette, Outagamie, Sheboygan, Waupaca, Waushara and Winnebago.

Clubs represented included: Sawdust City, Omro Junction Badgers and Roosevelt Badgers, Oshkosh; Clayton Badgers and Spring Road school, Neenah; and Winneconne Badgers, Winneconne.

Hear Concert Speech
After a 30-minute concert by the Sturgeon Bay High school band, the group was welcomed to Door county by Homer Willems, county superintendent of schools.

Miss Doris Platt of the Stage Historical Society, Madison, encouraged the youngsters to become acquainted with members of other clubs with a view toward developing Junior Historian pen pals.

Miss Platt noted that the afternoon's itinerary would include a stop to view the t-tem pole in Peninsula State park near Ephraim, a monument fashioned by white people in honor of the Potawatomi Indians.

She presented recognition awards for the year's projects. The Winneconne Badgers placed first in the visual division. In the written division, the top award went to Campus City school, Oshkosh. The Clayton Badgers took third in the written division and second in the oral division.

An original one-act play, "The Anderson Store, 1910," was presented by members of the Ephraim club. In many instances costumes had been loaned by persons who were being portrayed.

During the afternoon, the sun beamed brightly on the Junior Historians as they toured Door county, delving into its historical facts and colorful legends.

Included among their stops were a visit to the Sturgeon Bay Ship Canal and Coast Guard station, a stroll through the pristine forest at Toff's point, a hike through a portion of the Ridges Sanctuary County park, and a fairly long stop in Peninsula state park.

At the Ridges, the youngsters were told, 30 or more species of orchids bloom in early spring and through the summer.

Plan Paper Drive
Menasha — Boy Scouts of St. Patrick parish troop 35 will collect waste paper Saturday, June 4. Proceeds will be used to help buy new convent furnishings.

$2,674 Sales Of Christmas Seals Listed

Menasha — Collections totaling $2,674 from Christmas seal sales in 1956, an increase of 18.6 per cent above 1955, Mrs. Edward F. Arndt, Sr., president of the Menasha Tuberculosis and Health association, reported. In all 5,795 letters were mailed.

At the association's annual meeting Miss Lillian Lyon, school nurse, reported that 26 children of 3,108 tested showed positive reactions in tuberculosis skin tests, indicating they had had contact with someone who had tuberculosis. The children's percentage was 12.6. Of 90 adults tested, 35, or 38.8 per cent showed positive.

Miss Alice Dillon, city nurse reported on a regional TB conference at West DePere.

A major point brought out at the conference, she said, was the difference in case finding now compared with 20 years ago. The public now thinks tuberculosis is stamped out, but there are about as many cases today as then. Cases today are detected earlier and treated with modern drugs and treatment, and sanatorium stays are shorter.

Miss Dillon also reported on

MHS Student Wins 'A' Science Rating
Menasha — A Menasha high school freshman, Gary Werner, 746 Carver lane, won an "A" rating Saturday at a Wisconsin Junior Academy of Science festival in Wausau for his general science project demonstration.

Gary chose a cloud chamber project, which he finished in spare time. The chamber involves tracing beta particles in a small cloud produced under evaporation of alcohol through varying pressures. His 10-minute demonstration was judged for scientific thought and value of the experiment, originality, technical skill, thoroughness, presentation, practicality and continued interest.

Rockets, Jays Gain Tournament Wins

Don Kaufert Halts WHS On Four Hits

Menasha — Menasha broke up a close game with two runs in the fourth and three in the sixth to down Winneconne 8-2 in its first district tournament game here Monday afternoon.

The winners' Don Kaufert stopped the Wolves on four hits, several of the scratch variety, while the Jays only made five off starter Dale Johnson and Don Mueller, who relieved in the sixth.

Kaufert was in some kind of trouble in every inning and Winneconne stranded at least one runner in every frame, eight in all. The Menasha senior struck out five and walked two.

Winneconne tallied a run in the top of the first on a hit batsman, a fielder's choice and two errors.

3-Run Rally

The Jays came up with three in the bottom of the segment. Kaufert doubled, took third when Bill Prange was safe on an error, scored on a balk and Tom Remmel followed with a 2-run homer, his second in the last two games. Bill Malnory's single, a walk, Johnson's sacrifice and an infield out produced a Winneconne run in the third, cutting the spread to 3-2.

Remmel's triple, an error, another balk and Roger Schmidt's hit resulted in two Menasha runs in the fourth and two walks, an error, a hit batsman and John Matowitz's single sent home three more in the sixth.

MHS District

Today's Game:
4:30 — p. m. Neenah vs. Menasha (championship).

Monday's Result:
Menasha 5, Winneconne 2.
Neenah 3, Oshkosh 6.

Menasha — Neenah only made three hits off Oshkosh's Gary Johnson but made 11 of them count in a 5-4 upset win over the Indians Monday in the Menasha district tournament. The Rockets were scheduled to meet Menasha at 4:30 p.m. today.

The Rockets got some good relief pitching from Bill Braun and Mory Handier, both of whom were called upon during crucial moments and were equal to the task. The two and starter George Steffensen gave up only four hits.

Both teams came up with errors at critical times to put or keep their hurlers in hot water. Johnson went the route for Oshkosh and after the second inning was almost invincible. He set down 12 straight hitters from the second to the seventh and the only baserunner in the final four frames was by a walk. Johnson walked 12, seven in succession, and walked four, three in the first.

Lehman Homers

Oshkosh scored twice in the top of the first on an error and Don Lehman's homer. Johnson doubled and Dennis Jungwirth singled but they died on base as Braun entered to put out the fire.

Johnson walked the bases full in the top of the first and then gave up a 2-run single to Don Althaus. The Rockets counted three times in the second on two errors, Palmer Sell's double and Mitch Miller's single. Sell drove home one run and Miller accounted for two.

Oshkosh fluffed a chance in the second and on one occasion had two runners on third while a third was being run down between the base and the plate.

Handler Relieves

The Indians scored one in the fourth on a walk and two errors, and one in the fifth on a walk, a hit and an error. Handler relieved Braun in the fifth with men on first and second, none out and one run in and proceeded to retire three straight hitters. Walks put single runners on first in the sixth and seventh but they didn't advance any further.

This was a rough and tumble affair where on two occasions runners or fielders were sent head over heels. Another time Neenah third sacker Jim Salter jammed his thumb on a tag and two Oshkosh fielders were sent sprawling when they collided while going after a fly ball.

Pathological Detection Of Murder Set for TV

Forensic Medicine Series to Replace Garry Moore Variety Show for Summer

BY JINGO
The press wires recently carried the astounding story that it is believed some 100,000 homicides go undetected in the nation every year, 10 times the number of homicides that are detected.

The story quoted a speaker before a body of coroners who claimed the passed over deaths occur chiefly where modern medical detection facilities are lacking or where short budgets preclude a sufficient number of autopsies—a point heard at times in Interurbia.

Apparently unconnected, but certainly appropos, came the announcement, through regular channels, of a new television show, "Dx: Unknown." It will replace the Garry Moore show this summer on Channel 2 starting July 5.

The hour-long show is taken from the novel "Diagnosis Homicide" which won the Forensic Sciences Academy award. The star is a pathologist who makes laboratory magic to solve baffling mysteries. Jingo, for one, has been a fan of this kind of stuff for a long time and he knows of at least two coroners who are sure to be constant watchers.

This is National Radio month and an appropriate time to allow our old and faithful friend to blow its horn a little. Ten years ago there were 85 million radio sets in the country. Today there are 155 million, an increase of about 80 per cent. Incidentally there are more newspaper readers now than ever before, too. New news and entertainment media have a way of living to gether with the old families despite the impact of the in- novation.

Speaking of familiar stand- bys brings to mind the ob- servation that institutions of all sorts become ageless. This was dramatized by a recent appearance on TV of Ed Wynn, an institution if there ever was one—and ageless as any.

Remarking on the charms of Patti Page, Ed mused, "If I were 20 years younger and she was 20 years older—I'd still be too old."

Come to think of it, when was it when there was no Ed Wynn?

Jerry Lewis, who has had some experience with break- ing off with a partner, will have Eddie Fisher as his guest on his Channel 5 show Friday. The word is they will do a spoof of TV west- erns, a variety turn that is becoming as ubiquitous as the overdone plot factory be- ing tried.

By the way, the Friday show will end Lewis' TV ob- ligations for the season.

Julie London, the thrush with the smoky throat and in- teresting look, will increase her impact on the west coast Thursday when she opens her own 100-lane bowling alley in San Bernardino, Calif. She should have a ball.

Mike Ansara, television's top Indian portrayal, says it's about time for him to change his role. The other night his wife tuned in a cowboy show, he says, and he started to stalk the sel-

Actor Barry Sullivan and his Swedish born wife, ac- tress Gita Hall, pose in front of a flag in Los Angeles after Mrs. Sullivan took the oath of U. S. citizenship. Mrs. Sullivan, 27, was one of 100 persons who became citizens.

Networks Take To Stockpiling TV Programs

NBC Probably Has Most Ready To Replace Failures

BY CYNTHIA LOWEY
AP TV-Desk Writer

New York — The chilly statistics of public fancy have led television networks into the stockpiling business. All three do it, but the National Broadcasting Co. probably will have more shows warming up in TV's bullpen than any of the others next fall.

"One of three new shows succeed — if you're lucky," says Alan Courtney, NBC vice president of program administration.

"In television it has been the custom to put on the shelf shows that you're unsure about. But we are establishing an inventory of shows we think are tops, so that we are prepared to replace failures by January."

Courtney, for instance, is pretty excited over a series called "The Barbarians," set in ancient times and produced in Rome. One of reasons it is on the shelf instead of the sales counter is because of production problems. These should be solved within a few months, and "The Barbarians" will be one of the replacement shows of the new TV season.

The most interesting television of the weekend was, unfortunately, unseen by those outside the New York area. Vice President Richard M. Nixon sat down with interviewer David Susskind on his "Open End" show telecast on New York station WNTA Sunday night and took on all questions — including some very rough ones. He talked for almost two hours about international espionage, disarmament, nuclear and foreign policy and even politics.

It was a highly informative, leisurely period in which to make the acquaintance of Nixon. "Open End" has no specific termination point and the program went on until Susskind felt he had covered the subjects.
It would be enlightening and helpful to viewers if the networks would present such programs. Surely Nixon was wise to choose to appear—live—on such a show. He had time to answer questions in full. It proved infinitely more satisfactory than those sharp-shooting, hit-and-run, question-and-answer sessions with a panel firing questions and a moderator trying to keep the answers short to fit in a half-hour show.

Question: Our cat has ringworm. Is it dangerous to keep her with our family?

Tuesday, May 17, 1960 Appleton Post-Crescent C9
Answer: Since some types of ringworm in cats are transmissible to humans, I would advise that you hospitalize the cat during the treatment period. In the past, treatment for his disease has been long and arduous. It was treated with messy ointments and salves. Today we have a new fungistatic agent in tablet form that is showing remarkable promise in curing ringworm and several other common fungi. However, it will still take about 60 days before the cat can be given a clean bill of health.
(Address your question to Dr. Moller in care of this paper. He will answer selected inquiries in his column, but cannot reply to them.)

Falls Church, Va.—The Vatican's apostolic delegate to the United States, Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, recalls that in his childhood he "had a tendency to be somewhat wild."
As a result, he told a so-called meeting here, he was frequently well spanked by his parents.
"In fact," he said, "my mother once said to me, 'I pity the poor woman who will marry you.'"
"But, as you can see, Almighty God took care of that."

Lawrence Dorm To Cost $755,000

Contracts Awarded to Appleton
Firms for Hall for 167 Men

Lawrence college's proposed men's dormitory will cost $755,000, including furnishings, contracts awarded for construction indicate.

The dormitory for 167 will cost nearly $100,000 less than the college's original expectations, Business Manager Harlan S. Kirk, said. The building is being financed by a loan from the federal housing and home finance agency, and the debt on it will be retired through student rentals during the next 38 years.

The general construction contract was awarded to the Hoffman company Inc., Appleton, for $409,200. The firm built Lucinda Darling Colman hall on the campus several years ago.

Raze Old Building

The combined plumbing, sewerage, heating and ventilating work will be done by R. Wenzel, Appleton, for $112,203. Electrical work will be handled by Langstadt's Inc., Appleton, for $69,700.

Construction will begin on June 1, and completion is scheduled for August 1, 1961, with first occupants to move in a little more than a month later.

The building, designed by Frank C. Shattuck and M. F. Siewert Associates, Inc., Neenah, will be placed on the south half of the Union-College-Lawrence block. The former Hamer union, which has occupied half of that site, now is being razed.

Rule Out Split Shifts For City Park Men

Union Negotiations to be Completed
Next Fall When Budget is Made Up

Split weekend shifts for park department workers were ruled out Monday when commissioners met with Robert Schlieve, Teamster business agent, who represents the department's 70 hourly paid employees.

The board approved a work week cut from 44 to 40 hours, with no reduction in pay, and a bi-weekly pay period last week. It was hoping to arrange it so men needed Saturday mornings during summer months could be given Friday afternoon off and stay within the 40 hours.

But Schlieve objected to split weekend shifts, saying it is not fair to expect a man to break up his weekend, especially if he is going to get only his regular hourly pay rate.

Rotate Duty

Park maintenance workers will rotate on Saturday morning duty because not all are needed every Saturday. A full crew is needed at the municipal golf course now to get greens cut before play starts.

Arthur Jones, Schlieve secretary, reminded Schlieve this year's budget was made up last year and that more men are going to be needed because the cut in hours.

The Teamster agent recognized the point and indicated he was willing to forego asking double time for Sundays and holidays until budget time this fall.

Also to be discussed this fall are arrangements for premium pay, sick leave, vacations and other items in the working rules and regulations agreement.

Wait Until Fall

Commissioners said they do not want to complete negotiations with the union until fall when the city-union pact for street and sanitation and sewage department workers is completed, and when expense items can be put in the new budget.

The council's street and sanitation committee decided last week it wanted some changes in the present proposed agreement, and the finance committee has turned down any pay raise until budget time.

The cut in hours gives the men a 10 per cent increase in rates. The take-home pay is the same.

Park commissioners pointed out their budget takes into account anticipated revenue from the municipal golf course, but when spring weather is bad, such as this year, revenue decreases.

Commissioners indicated that next year greens fees and charges for reserving parks for private groups or organizations will have to be raised to make up for the higher anticipated operating costs.

Affected most by higher labor costs will be the golf course, where it is necessary to cut the greens Saturday mornings. Sometimes it is necessary to cut them Saturday night or early Sundays, especially before tournaments. This will run into overtime and premium pay for work outside the regular hours of 7 a.m. to 3.30 p.m., it was noted.

4-H Leaders Table Action On Enrollment

Will Consider in July Moving Up
Registration Date

Oshkosh — Action on a change in the enrollment date for 4-H club membership was tabled by the county 4-H leaders association Monday night until the July meeting. The leaders met at the courthouse. The proposal had been to move the enrollment date from March 1 up to Feb. 1. Copies of a University of Wisconsin booklet on storm and tornado survival activities were distributed to the leaders and clubs are being urged to use this theme or community service for their booths at the county fair. Reservations for the booths will be received after July 1, leaders were advised.

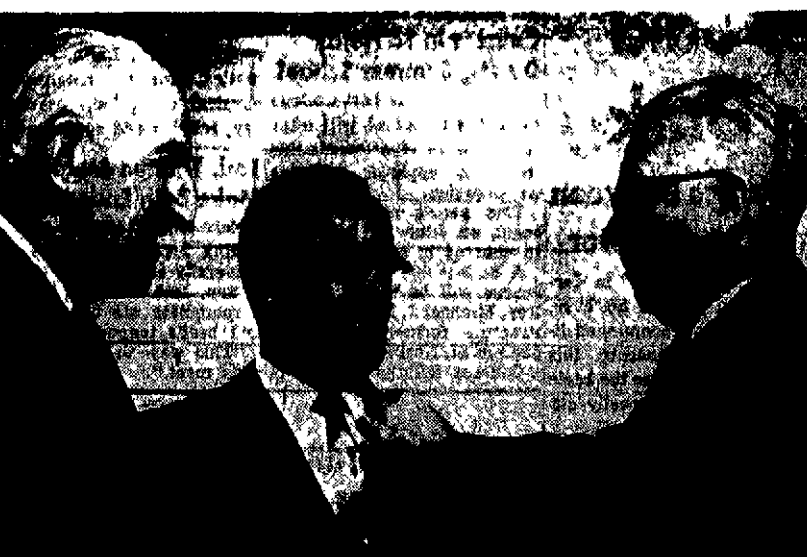

Judging School
Miss Lois Klumeyer, home agent, told of the home economics judging school and contest on Wednesday, June 22 at the Sunset school near Oshkosh. She also suggested clubs have a foods revue and have someone come in to evaluate and judge the presentation by the members. Mrs. Melvin Berholtz of the county beekeepers association told of plans for a junior honey baking contest and a honey queen. Reservations for the county camp June 16 to 18 at Camp Anokijig near Plymouth are due by June 1 at the county extension office, with about 100 campers expected for this year. Clarence Westfahl, 4-H agent, called attention to Sunday, May 22, being Rural Life Sunday and told how clubs could observe it. He reported a county dairy judging team is being planned to compete in a district meet at Shawano June 29. He spoke also of the conservation camp at Upham Woods near Wisconsin Dells on July 25 to 29. A dairyama will again be sponsored by the county Dairy Plant Operators association at the fairgrounds July 27 and the junior part of this program will be the selection of a junior dairy queen and helping members learn how to fit their calves for the county fair.

The last roller skating party sponsored by the leaders will be at the Westward Ho on Highway 110 Thursday night and the tractor meeting has been set for the Carlton Marohn farm on County Trunk T next Monday night. Carolee Sharratt, a Mears club junior leader, led community singing and taught several new 4-H songs and Curtis Combs, head of the rural drama group, suggested the clubs give their plays before other organizations and meetings.

Parker Pen to Cut Quarterly Dividend

Janesville — The Parker Pen company announced Monday that it was trimming its regular quarterly dividend from 30 to 35 cents even though sales and profits were up in the last fiscal year. Directors said the action was taken because "Parker's earnings rate in the last two years indicates a moderately lower figure." Sales for the fiscal year ended Feb. 29 were up $5 million over the previous year to $38,044,035. Net earnings on those sales were $547,776, amounting to 80 cents a share, compared with $476,792, or 52 cents a share for the 12 previous months.

Two 45-Year Employees of the Wisconsin Telephone company have been given diamond service emblems by M. P. Naab, right, general plant manager. Anthony S. Daleiden, left, 609 E. Grant street, held various telephone construction jobs in Milwaukee before being named construction foreman in the Appleton plant department in 1951. Frederick W. Kienitz, center, 612 E. Circle street, began his telephone career as an exchange repairman and held plant and engineering assignments. He is an engineer for the company at Appleton.

Van Pelt Sees Big Spending In '61 Congress

Conservatives Must Stop Liberals or Deficit Predicted

Delavan — Unless the small bank of conservatives in congress can curb some of the spending now in the offing, the federal government will be faced with a huge deficit in 1961. Instead of a surplus, Congressman William K. Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, told delegates to the accounting section of the Wisconsin Utilities association at their annual convention at Lake Lawn lodge Monday. "In spite of all warnings we appear to be drifting toward bigger and more expensive government, and with the resultant increasing burden of taxation," Van Pelt said. He cited bills which he predicted are almost certain to pass both houses of Congress and which would cost nearly $5 billion over what President Eisenhower recommended in his budget. Among these are more public housing, school construction and federal aid to education, depressed area assistance, youth conservation corps, educational TV grants, international medical grants, and bigger appropriations for health, education, welfare, and the interior department. "The irresponsible and reckless liberals who dominate the Washington scene have found that promises, however wild, will win votes in elections," Congressman Van Pelt said, and they will be more powerful and more active in the 1960 elections than ever before.

Over 1,000 Students at Princeton Riot

Princeton, N.J. — A spring riot sent 1,000 horse-play-happy Princeton university students swirling and shouting through the campus and town early to day, before police broke up the crowd.

The demonstration began last night after the school newspaper had written an editorial commenting on how quiet things had been lately.

Students began swarming out of their dormitories about 10:45 p.m. when they heard fire trucks headed for a minor fire on the outskirts of town. The students effectively blocked traffic along two main streets.

A large group went to call on President Robert F. Goheen at the president's home. They were greeted by Goheen in slacks and crewneck sweater. He gave them a severe tongue-lashing.

"You've had plenty of time to show your adolescence and blow off steam," he said, "so let's break it up. There are plenty of times when I'm proud of Princeton undergraduates, but they are not times like this."

Another undergraduate group took over a Pennsylvania railroad train outside the Princeton station. They blocked the track as the 2-car electric shuttle train approached. The car ground to a halt and the students boarded, forcing out passengers and crew members.

The students blew the train's whistle loud and long.

Container Net Rose Sharply Stone Corporation Continues 1959 Rise During First Quarter

The sharp uptrend registered in both sales and earnings of Stone Container corporation in 1959 was extended through the first quarter of the company is "hopeful" of maintaining the improvement the remainder of the year, Norman H. Stone, chairman and president, reported.

First quarter sales climbed 20 per cent over the $9,408,049 volume in the year ago period, he said, while earnings rose between 10 per cent and 15 per cent from net of $459,963, or 59 cents a share the first three months last year. For all 1959, net was $1,926,754, or $2.48 a share, a 12 year high, on record sales of $42,086,955.

"Despite pessimistic economic forecasts, all our plants are running full and I'm still happy over the outlook," he said, and "thus far all product lines have shared in the sales improvement. Second and third quarter results maybe adversely affected by non-recurring expenses, such as moving executive headquarters and installation of a new machine to 'more than double' production at one of three paperboard mills, he said.

Approximately 10 per cent of the sales gain registered during the initial three months this year, he said, stemmed from Acme Carton and Delmar Paper Box acquired during the 1959 third quarter, but neither contributed to the improved profit performance. Stone said the company is "very interested" in acquiring additional corrugated plant capacity, but not new paper box facilities.

Close to $4,000,000 is being budgeted for capital expenditures this year, up from $2-100,000 in 1959 and expansion will be financed in part through short term borrowings, he said.

U. S. Attacked in Red Newspapers

Moscow — Russian de-nouncing American spy flights were reported today from major Russian cities as the Soviet press intensified its indignation campaign against the United States.

The communist party organ Pravda said workers demonstrated in Moscow, Leningrad, Stalingrad, Kiev and many other cities, blasting "reactionary circles" in America. In a page one editorial, Pravda said the people joined Premier Nikita Khrushchev in warning against any more provocations by American war planes over the Soviet Union.

The general tone of the papers indicated that the Soviet press and radio would continue to build up feeling against the United States. Second district candidates need 200 signatures for either party.

Last Paper Critical Of Castro Taken Over By Faithful Unions

Havana — Unions faithful to Fidel Castro have seized the last Cuban newspaper critical of his regime.

Seizure yesterday of La Prensa Libre left only two small independent papers publishing in Cuba, Informacion and El Crisol. Both avoid criticizing the government. The rest of the press is controlled by pro-government groups.

The two top directors of La Prensa Libre, Humberto Medrano and Ulises Carbo, were reported to have taken refuge in El Salvador's embassy. Carbo is the son of the paper's editor and publisher, Sergio Carbo.

Chaplain-Airmen May Wear Two Insignia

Washington — The Air Force has modified its long-standing rule that nothing in the way of insignia should be worn atop the wings displayed on the left chest by air crew members.

Chaplains who previously wore fliers now may wear their insignia — the cross or tablet device — above their wings. They may not hold aeronautical ratings in addition to their chaplain status, but there still are a handful of chaplains in service who were pilots, navigators or other air crew members before they became clergymen.

Both Parties Said To Walk in Dark

Each Must Have Balance Between Support, Criticism of Eisenhower

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — Both political parties are walking in the dark about the international situation. Each is moving with infinite caution. Each is hoping that its more excitable parts will just go away and keep quiet.

There is, for each party, an enormously destructive potential in this business and an enormous opportunity for gain in the November elections. The Republicans fear they may lose the "peace issue" on which they had counted so much. The Democrats hope they may be able to wrest that issue away from Vice President Nixon, the prospective GOP presidential nominee.

Creative Inaction
The winning party is likely to be determined not so much by the wisdom of what it does as by the unwisdom of what the other party does. The best possible politics may lie mainly in good, sound, creative inaction, mixed with a little bit of action taken only after a great deal of forethought.

The party that rushes boldly into this situation is likely to rush itself right out of the victory column in November. The central problem for the Republicans is to strike a nice balance between supporting President Eisenhower in the "spy plane" episode and beyond, without tying Nixon absolutely to such parts of Eisenhower policy as may seem erroneous in November.

More Delicate
The Democrats must strike a perhaps ever more delicate balance. They must not seem to take 2-bit partisan advantage of our present or future national embarrassments. They must not, on the other hand, act as though they had no ideas of their own about cold war strategy.

The Republicans will make a catastrophic mistake if they mortgage Nixon's whole future to every possible turn of the Eisenhower foreign policy line. Nixon must have some leeway for the campaign, particularly if by then the cold war has worsened.

The Democrats will make a fatal mistake if in their zeal to criticize the Republicans they begin to sound as though they were running on a pro-Khrushchev, instead of a pro-Democratic, ticket. True, the Republicans made great headway in 1952 by irresponsibility over "Truman's war" in Korea. Such a course, however, will surely not recommend itself to the Democrats this time, if only because the basic pre-conditions are wholly different.

Avoid Temptation
Then we were in a war which many wanted to end. Now we are in a peace-of sorts—which all hope to keep. Most of the voters, however, will not believe that the best way to keep that peace is to let the Russians walk all over our legitimate interests.

Thus, the Democrats must avoid the strong temptation of attacking Eisenhower simply to get at Nixon, the temptation to make the present administration look very bad by making the Russians look pretty good.

The Democrats must remember that the United States has only one spokesman to the world, the president. They cannot seriously let him down without letting down the country—and without letting down their own party.

Ins and Outs
The Republicans must remember that this one presidential spokesman is going out of a powerful office, not into one. If he makes mistakes they, and not he, must bear the campaign responsibility.

The Democrats, as the outs, had better criticize him as little as possible. The Republicans, as the ins, had better criticize him, wherever they think him wrong, as much as possible—so long as they keep it within the family of the party and administration.

Advocates Meeting of Peace Winners to Aid Understanding

St. Louis —A—The Rev. Dominique Georges Pire, O. P., 1955 winner of the Nobel prize, advocates a meeting of Nobel and Lenin peace award recipients to promote world understanding. Father Pire, a Belgian Dominican priest, was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by St. Louis university. The 50-year-old priest said a meeting of Nobel and Lenin prize winners would help destroy prejudice and promote understanding. He said, "Two things are necessary if world peace is to be achieved. First, it's necessary to arrive at a really common language in which words will always have the same meaning. "Secondly, we must adopt common moral principles, including at least reciprocal sincerity, mutual confidence and the absence of egotism."

Hortonville's Collar Pitches No-Hit Game Against Shiocton High

Doesn't Allow Walk, Strikes Out 14 in Tournament Game

Hortonville Meet

Today's Schedule:
Hortonville vs. Wrightstown (2:30 p.m.)
Kimberly vs. Kaukauna (5:30 p.m.)
Monday's Result:
Hortonville 10, Shiocton 0.

Hortonville — Hortonville High's Larry Collar turned in a pitching masterpiece here Monday—a no-hitter, with no walks.

Collar pitched Hortonville to a 10-0 victory over Shiocton which moved the Polar Bears into today's semi-finals of the WIAA District baseball tournament. The 6-2 senior right-hander struck out 14 batters in pitching to just 24 men—three over the minimum.

Three errors, one by himself and others by Ed Jungwirth and Gary Kohl kept Collar from a perfect game. The curve-balling Collar threw just 84 pitches—60 strikes and 24 balls—in hurling the first no-hitter in Coach Russ Tiedemann's four successful seasons as Polar Bear baseball coach. There have been a number of 1-hitters in that span.

Today, Hortonville is slated to play Wrightstown at 3:30 and Kaukauna to meet Kimberly at 5:30, weather permitting.

Hortonville went in front to stay with a singleton in the second on a walk and singles by Dave Conrad and Herm Schwabs. They added one in the third and three in the fourth (when Ken Huebner pounded a 2-run single). Hortonville collected 11 hits, all singles, off loser Dave Engblom. He walked seven and fanned two.

Sign Packer Facts
McGee, Symank Loom As Key Figures in '60

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — Max McGee doesn't expect to draw blanks in 1960. And John Symank hopes to start all 12 games at the safety spot.

These two Texans, whose signings to '60 pacts were announced Monday by Coach Vince Lombardi, are key figures in what looms as the Packers' most interesting season.

McGee led the Packers in pass catching in 1958—a 1-win year and then ranked second to rookie Boyd Dowler in 1959. "Maxie, the taxi" beat out Billy Howton, 37 catches to 36, in '58. Last fall, Dowler caught 33, McGee 30.

Max negotiated that 30 with two consecutive no-catch games—the crucial Giant test in New York and the Bear battle in Chicago. The Packers lost both of the latter tests, 20-3, in Yankee stadium and 27-17 in Wrigley field and completed only 13 passes in the two games. Thus McGee's three or four catches might have made the difference.

McGee caught 19 passes in the final five games. Green Bay won four of those five games... so it must help if McGee is "sticking" with the ball!

Symank has been a regular at safety for the Bays for his first two seasons, which included nine interceptions as a rookie in 1957, until last fall. The presence of Ern Tunnell and the return of Bobby Dillon midway in training season kept John on the bench during most of the league season in '59. However, Symank stated to "come" in a hurry about the halfway mark and he drew a starting assignment for the Redskin game. Symank then went the route and it's significant that the Bays allowed only seven touchdowns in winning the last four.

Symank, a real estate salesman during the off season in Arlington, Texas, will be starting his fourth year. McGee, a cement pipe and concrete salesman in Houston, is back for his fifth season. He has caught 120 passes for 2237 yard and 28 touchdowns and ranks as one of the league's top punters.

Score Pair In Sixth to Snap Tie

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The rains came, and hard, at 9:55 p.m. Monday at Goodland field, with the Fox Cities Foxes on the short end of a 7-5 score.

If it had started raining just five minutes earlier, the Foxes—St. Louis City game would have ended in a 5-5 tie, the tally reverting back to the last full inning played (the fifth).

But, the sixth was completed and the Soos walked off with their 7-5 victory, capturing the series, two games to one.

A 2-run double by Chuck Bennett—who had struck out in six straight appearances through the third inning—broke the 5-5 deadlock in the top of the sixth.

After a mandatory 30-minute wait in a heavy downpour, the umpires called the game. Soos Are Out-Hit Winners of a game Sunday with a 4-hit offense, the Foxes dropped one Monday night despite out-hitting the Soos, 13-5. Starter Arne Thorsland and loser Bert Barth allowed 10 walks in 3 and 1-3 innings. Reliever Jim Lehigh struck out the only two men he faced, in the sixth.

Diego Segui was far from invincible while ringing up his fifth straight victory, against no defeats. In addition to the 13 hits, he allowed two walks while striking out three.

Tonight, southpaw Pat Gillick (0-1) is slated to go for the Foxes in the opener of a 3-game set with Des Moines.

Monday's victory kept the Soos in a virtual first place tie with rain-aided Burlington. percentage points out of the lead. The Foxes dropped to sixth place.

Third baseman Pete Ward hammered a double and two singles to lead both clubs at the plate.

Two Singles
Shortstop Bob Saverine and right fielder Charlie Johnson each stroked a pair of singles with Johnson's first driving in two runs. "Photi" Anthony hammered a double and a single. Eight of the 11 Foxes who played—all except John Powell, Jim Carver and Thorsland—hit safely.

The Soos made it 1-0 in the first when Dick Hower swatted a lead-off double to right and scored on Billy Spiers' single to center.

The Foxes took a 4-1 lead in their half of the inning. Frank Montgomery walked to open the frame and then Saverine beat out a bunt. Ward singled off Segui's glove, scoring Montgomery. Anthony poked his double to right, counting Saverine and sending Ward to third.

2-Run Single
Powell bounced out, Ray Youngdahl fanned and then Johnson—fighting his way out of a slump—slashed a line single to center for two runs. Sid Smithdeal walked and Segui doubled him home in.

Orioles Hold Undisputed AL Lead for First Time in 6 Years

Take Fifth Win in Succession on Homers by Brandt and Hansen

By The Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles, a bunch of castoffs and kids, finally made it. They are all alone in first place for the first time since returning to the American league six years ago.

They did it by completing a 3-week drive from the cellar with a 2-1 victory at Kansas City Monday night, winning their fifth in a row on home runs by Jackie Brandt and rookie Ron Hansen that backed a 6-hit pitching job by Arnie Portocarrero and Jack Fisher.

It was the only game scheduled in the AL and broke a deadlock with Chicago. The Birds now lead the defending champion White Sox by a half game.

The Orioles have won 14 of 19 after losing five of their first six, and this was their sixth straight road victory. Hansen supplied the clincher with his second major league home run in the fifth inning.

Brandt's homer, his second in the AL after a winter deal with San Francisco, came in the first. He had two of the five hits off loser Ned Garver (0-3).

Portocarrero (3-0), a right-hander with only one winning season in his 6-year career, had a no-hitter for four innings and a 3-hit shutout for six frames. He gave way to Fisher, 21, after a leadoff single by "Whitey" Herzog in the seventh, when the A's added a walk and Dick Williams' single for their run.

Reds' Bob Purkey Reduces Giants' Lead to 1 Game

Cincinnati Chases Jones, Posts 11th Win in Last 13 Contests

By The Associated Press
If a road jinx wasn't enough to make things tough for San Francisco, the National league leading Giants now find that Bob Purkey has his whammy working again.

He beat them for the second time in two tries this season as the Cincinnati Reds mauled Sam Jones and four relievers for a 9-2 romp Monday night that trimmed the Giants' lead to one game over idle Pittsburgh.

It was the fourth defeat in nine road games for the Giants, who managed a 3-0 record against Purkey last season after losing seven of eight to the big righthander over a 4-year span going back to 1955.

St. Louis Wins
Third-place Milwaukee's game with Los Angeles was postponed because of rain, after 14 scoreless innings, and St. Louis came from behind three times for a 5-3 decision at Philadelphia in the only other action scheduled in the NL.

The fourth-place Reds put away their eleventh victory in their last 13 games with single runs in each of their first three frames. That chased Jones (4-3), who has suffered all his losses on the road.

Purkey (3-1) gave up a dozen hits, but didn't walk a man and blanked the Giants over the last six innings for his third consecutive victory. The Reds, who had 16 hits, made it 7-2 in a 4-run fifth with the help of Gus Bell's 2-run triple and two of the Giants' four errors.

The Cards, out-hit, 11-9, shook off Sunday's no-hit defeat by Don Cardwell at Chicago with three runs in the ninth for their second victory in 16 road games. Daryl Spencer twice brought them from behind, squaring it, 2-2, with his solo sixth home run in the seventh inning and then making it 3-3 with a double in the ninth. A sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski scored the clincher. Joe Cunningham's third single got the final home run.

Ernie Broglio (1-1) won it in relief after Wilmer Mizell had given up 10 hits, one Al Dark's bases-empty homer.

McFarland Beats Don Jordan in Non-Title Bout
Baltimore — (M) — Welterweight champion Don Jordan got a bloody nose and his second straight non-title licking by insisting on fighting in Baltimore Monday night. Sugar Ray Robinson is in hot water today for not doing any fighting at all.

Jordan was outboxed and outpunched by Candy McFarland in a non-title 10-rounder while Robinson — officials say — didn't even tell any one he wasn't going to show up for his scheduled 10-round co-feature with Pedro Gonzales of Rngkin, Pa.

The Maryland Athletic commission ordered Robinson and his manager, George Gainford, to appear for a hearing Thursday.

Jordan's next boxing date is May 27 in Las Vegas against Benny "Kid" Paret. His title will be on the line.

Wins 17th Fight
Jordan felt his fight with McFarland was close enough that he could have lost but not unanimously. On a 5-point for the round winner basis, referee Eddie Leonard scored it for McFarland 47 and the two judges 46-45.

"I'd like to fight him again and for the title," said McFarland, a 20-year-old Philadelphia winning his seventeenth fight out of 24. "I knew I had him licked in the third round."

McFarland, who weighed a half pound less than Jordan's 149, drew blood from the champion's nose in the eighth round and almost knocked him down with a right in the next.

Jordan had insisted on going ahead with the fight even though the National Boxing Association and the Las Vegas promoters protested it was too soon before the title match.

The fights in Baltimore's Memorial stadium originally were scheduled for Saturday night and postponed because of rain.

At first, promoter Al Flora reported this was given by Gainford as the excuse for Robinson's absence. Flora said the manager told him by phone they didn't realize they had been rescheduled for Monday night.

Later in New York, Gainford said he had informed Flora earlier that Robinson wasn't going to appear because they learned there was an attachment on Gonzalez's purse. Gainford also said there was no stipulation in their contract that Robinson had to appear if the fight was postponed.

The fights drew only 2,014 paid to the stadium that holds 57,000 for football. The net gate receipts were only $5,540.82 of which Jordan and Robinson were to receive 25 per cent.

Accuses AFL of Trying To Lure NFL Players

Anderson Says Certain Clubs Tell Gridders Of Established Loop to Sit Out '60 Season

Detroit — The head of the National Football league Detroit Lions charged Monday that certain clubs of the new American Football league were advising NFL players to sit out the 1960 season and thus be able to sign AFL contracts for the 1961 season.

Edwin J. Anderson, president of the Lions, did not identify any AFL team he accused of this nor did he name any players.

Anderson said he had learned AFL teams were offering to pay the 1960 salaries of certain NFL stars if the stars would sit out the season and not sign new contracts.

"We're having no more trouble than usual with our contract negotiations," Anderson said. "But we have learned that players from some other teams have been approached by AFL teams and advised not to sign for 1960."

Ralph W. Wilson, Jr., a Detroit insurance man who owns the Buffalo Bills of the AFL, said he did not know of any such practices as described by Anderson.

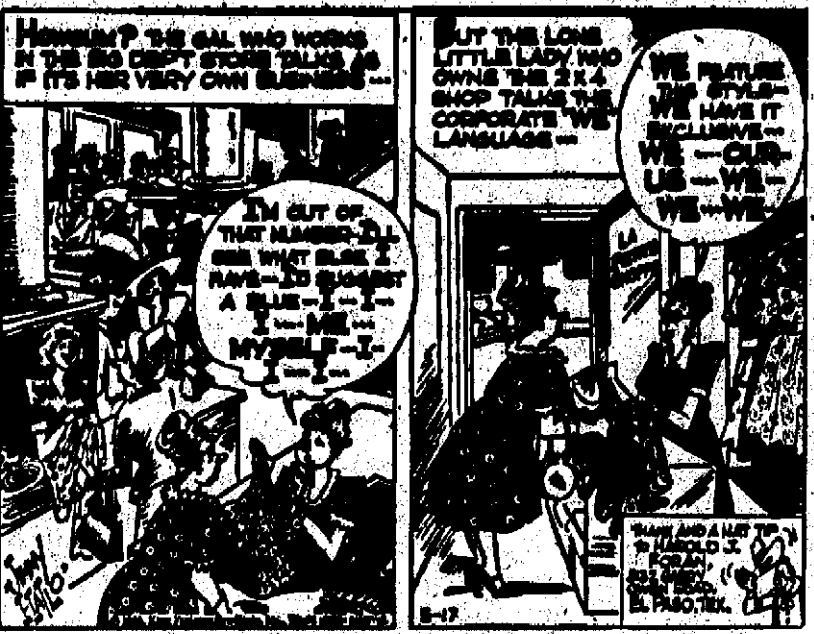

"Commissioner Joe Foss has established a league policy completely contrary to those charges," Wilson said. "I've told my own people that they are not even to contact anyone under contract to the NFL."

Anderson made his charges at the Lions' annual ticket kickoff luncheon.

Second baseman Red Schoendienst complained of an upset stomach and was replaced in the starting lineup by Felix Mantilla as Chuck Cottler was sent on option to the Louisville farm in the American association. However, the veteran redhead figured to be ready after a night's rest.

Cottler had been used mainly to spell Schoendienst in the late innings and Drensen ended the young prospect would be better off playing regularly.

The Braves also were without Lew Burdette, who probably will miss his turn against San Francisco Wednesday. Burdette was shipped to Milwaukee hospital Monday because of an upper respiratory infection. His condition is not considered serious.

the second to shave it to 4-5. In the Sioux City third, two walks, sandwiched a round Junior Reedy's single to right, loaded the bases with no one out. After Bennett fanned for the sixth straight time, Virg Bernhardt bounced out, Splers scoring.

The Foxes counted their final run in their half of the frame. Ward beat out a fine bunt and moved to third on Anthony's single to center. Powell then lofted a sacrifice fly.

A pair of errors on Baverine and two walks tied the score at 5-5 in the fourth and brought on Barth.

Musial on Bench as Hemus Experiments

Manager, Stan Dony Veteran's Career Is Nearly Over

Philadelphia — Stan Musial was as frisky and optimistic at pre-game practice Monday night as a rookie-of-the-year with his baseball career still before him. But he wasn't in the starting lineup.

And he wasn't in the starting lineup for either game of St. Louis' doubleheader against Chicago Sunday, although he did pinch-hit in the second game, as he did Monday night against Philadelphia.

Is this the first hint that Musial's long and outstanding career is at last nearly over?

"Absolutely not," Manager Solly Hemus and Musial agreed.

Hemus would not say how long the 30-year-old first baseman would be on the bench.

Gifts to Mohr Fund So Far Total $1,555

Madison — The University of Wisconsin Board of Regents has accepted contributions to the Charles J. Mohr scholarship fund, established to honor the Badger boxer who died last month of injuries suffered in a bout.

The regents said Saturday that gifts to the fund so far total $1,555, with the latest contribution of $150 from the student W club. The award will go each year to a male junior student.

Michigan edged Indiana, 7-6, Friday and then split a Saturday double-header with Ohio State to gain a 6-5 record.

University of Wisconsin bats failed Saturday as the Badgers collected only four hits in losing a doubleheader, 2-0 and 2-1, to Iowa.

In the first game Wisconsin managed only one hit off Ron Relfert who gave up a single to Dick Van Erden in the fifth. In the nightcap, Wisconsin was held to three hits by Dick Clause.

Viking Frosh Rout Ripon In Track Meet

Don Kersemeler
Sets Record With
'09.8 'Century'

Wausau's Don Kersemeler sped to a Ripon college field record of 9.8 seconds for the 100-yard dash as Lawrence college's freshman track team overwhelmed the yearling Redmen, 95-36, Saturday. The old field record was :10.0.

Kersemeler was one of four multiple winners for the Viking frosh. He also won the 220-yard dash.

Lawrence's Gary Just captured clear firsts in the pole vault and the javelin and tied for first in the high jump.

Double victors, besides Kersemeler, were Herb Weber (mile and half-mile) and Carey Wickland (440 and broad jump).

Lawrence's Jim Carey had a hectic time of it in finishing second to teammate Mike Furlong in the 2-mile. Carey sat down en route to take pebbles out of his shoes. Then, 50 yards from the finish, he developed stomach cramps. He walked a few yards and was on the verge of leaving the track when he saw Ripon's Hendricks coming up fast. Carey resumed running and took second by inches.

Helicopter-Kite Dispute Settled

St. Louis —Louis J. Christen, Jr. complained a helicopter severed the string leading to a kite he was flying from a tennis courts area of Forest park.

"What action does one take to avenge such an unkind deed?" Christen demanded. The kite-flyer lost another round when the matter was submitted to Ian M. Crowder, acting park commissioner.

Crowder noted the tennis courts had been authorized as a mid-town landing area for helicopters and said he would ban kite flying in the area.

Furillo Charges Dodgers With Betrayal in Release Timing

Los Angeles —Carl Furillo, told to take a walk when he could no longer run, charges that his ball club betrayed him more than his ailing legs.

"I think this is one of the loudest things they could have done," he says. "They just didn't have to do it that way." He has been with the Dodgers 14 years.

The 38-year-old Los Angeles outfielder—renowned as the leading rifle in the days when his right arm was a deadly delight for Brooklyn—told The Associated Press it was not his release that really disturbed him. It was the time at which it came—the time he said made it impossible for him to get a job with another club.

"Buzze" Bavasi, general manager of the Dodgers, quickly denied there was any intent to damage Furillo.

Furillo's complaint is that his release came just after all the clubs in the majors cut to 25 players—"just after they were all set."

"Why not a week or two weeks earlier?" he asked.

"Then I would have had a chance to do something. Everybody's set now, and I'm a dead duck."

"Maybe they didn't want me to hook up with some other ball club and come back for revenge."

Bavasi, apprised of Furillo's remarks, said:

"He can have his release now and go with any ball club he wants to."

Bavasi said Furillo had been placed on waivers and any club that wanted him could claim him for the waiver price. If none claims him before the waiver period expires this week, Furillo becomes a free agent and may sell his services to any club.

Major League Moguls Discuss Kefauver Bill And Bonus Situation

Senate Hearings Are Due to Open Thursday

Chicago—Major league baseball holds its own top-drawer conference of 16 owners today, two days before the senate opens hearings on a bill that would limit their control of players.

Although the meeting was announced by John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, it had been suggested by Commissioner Ford Frick. However, Frick insisted it was not an emergency session but originally had been planned for March in Florida. Only the top man of each club will attend.

The fact that the senate's anti-trust sub-committee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, has invited Frick and other baseball officials, including Branch Rickey, president of the Continental league, to testify pointed up the connection between the meeting and the bill.

Brands Bill 'Vicious'

Rickey, will not, of course, be present at the major league session. His league favors the Kefauver bill. Phil Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs, is the only major league owner in favor of it.

Frick blasted the bill as "vicious, discriminatory and disastrous" and added that it was "absolutely unacceptable because it goes beyond anti-trust exemptions and attempts to spell out operating rules for baseball."

However, the Kefauver bill is only one of many matters expected to be discussed at the top-level baseball meeting. Frick and American league President Joe Cronin will attend.

The bonus situation is sure to come up for airing. Many owners are becoming increasingly alarmed at the size of bonus payments to untried high school graduates and college students.

It was at a similar meeting of baseball's top brass last May 21 in Columbus, Ohio, that the majors drew up their 10-point plan by which a new league could qualify as a third major.

The Continental is stalled on the point involving territorial rights for cities currently in the minors.

Export Sales Create 15,000 Jobs in State

551 in Winnebago County, Governor's Office Announces

Madison — Export sales of Wisconsin manufacturers create jobs for 15,000 factory workers in the state, Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today. Nelson based his figure on a report from the state department of resource development.

David Carley, director of the department, said the report was based on returns from a University of Wisconsin questionnaire sent to manufacturers in 1957 and 1958 and questionnaires sent out by his department in late 1959.

Returns came from about two-thirds of the Wisconsin manufacturers engaged in foreign trade. The date, based on the assumption that employment is proportional to sales, indicated that in these firms over 10,000 workers owned their jobs directly to the export sales of their employers.

According to the report, 5,330 of these jobs were in Milwaukee county. In Rock county, 766 workers owned their jobs to export sales, in Winnebago, 551; Racine, 455; Fond du Lac, 425; Dane, 337; Kenosha, 285; Manitowish, 272; Sheboygan, 248; Washington, 217; and Marathon, 215.

Flowers Bloom Despite Weather

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Green Bay — Trilliums, spring beauties, Dutchman's breeches and violets are blossoming now in spite of the cold and rain. During the mild spells in April their buds formed and grew, and their blossoms opened up at the appointed time.

There's a flower map grove along Highway 32 a few miles southeast of Gillett which we've been observing and admiring for a number of years. Toward the end of April—earlier in a warm season—the first blossoms appear. These are hepaticas ("May flowers"), bloodroots and anemones.

By early May the flowers mentioned in the first paragraph open up, plus such others as bellwort, bishop's cap, valerian or polemonium, and fawn lily. The last-named was formerly known as adder's tongue, or dogtooth violet, but it is a real lily.

Like Rich Woods

Before the month is over a number of other favorite blossoms will appear in the same spot. Among them will be mayapple, wild blue phlox, and cranesbill, and in low, damp spots, jack-in-the-pulpit, wild ginger and sweet white violet.

If you know your soil as well as your wildflowers, you know that the species listed are lovers of rich woodland soil where maples, beeches and other hardwood trees grow. They need sunshine, and that is why they blossom in early spring, before the foliage of trees makes the woodland too shady for them. By summer, the same woods is practically devoid of blossoms.

We stopped at this Gillett maple grove a few days ago and found many of these early spring flowers in bloom. A cold mixture of rain and snow was falling, and flower heads were bent low, as though the plants were hunching their shoulders against the cold rain and wind. Plants do this in bad weather to protect their pollen, or, in the case of bloodroots and some others, they close their petals.

Cold Stunts Growth

We noticed that many of the plants were short-stalked, and that the blossoms were smaller than usual. The unfavorable weather conditions stunted their growth, just as it does the plants in our cultivated gardens.

Wild shrubs and trees with showy flowers should be displaying their blossoms soon too. Some are due now, including the wild plum and the Juneberry. Other showy tree and shrub blossoms which will be out in May are thornapples, choke cherries and wild cherries, wild crab, and various viburnums.

Not only flowers are hunching their shoulders against the cold. If you've been watching the returning birds, you must have seen many of them standing dejectedly in a quiet corner, letting the rain drops slide down their backs and drooping tails. No doubt, they are wishing they were back in the south.

Migration Slowed Up

In spite of the cold weather, a few birds came back at their usual time, but on the whole the migration is slowed up. We saw a single kingbird May 7, and I've had reports of orioles, scarlet tanagers and several warblers. Isn't it too early for them, I'm usually asked. The date is right, but the weather is wrong.

Where are the martins, is another question that has been asked me frequently this spring. April 10 to 20 is the average time for these well-labeled birds to return to their apartment houses. Some did come back on time, or even earlier, but let's hope the bad weather farther south. Insect life is still too scarce to support more than a few martins, swallows, warblers and other insect-eaters. You'll find most of these near water, where there are a few insects in spite of the cold.

Two interesting birds spent most of yesterday close to the house where I could watch them. One was the Louisiana water thrush, and the other

Alston and Dressen Both Warn Not to Count Their Clubs Out

Milwaukee — The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers and the Milwaukee Braves, a couple of top candidates in pre-season polls, are having their trouble. But both warn not to count them out.

"We haven't been going too good, but we're not head-not by a long shot," said Los Angeles manager Walter Alston.

"This team proved it can fight by going all the way last year. It's still a battling ball club and will bounce back."

"Our biggest trouble has been poor weather," said Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen after the Braves' seventh postponement of the season. "All we have to do is get straightened out. These postponements have hurt, coming so early in the season. But don't worry, we'll have our fun."

The Dodgers, in fifth place seven full games behind the front-running San Francisco Giants, and the Braves, four games off the place in third, were rained out after a scoreless inning in a half Monday night.

Alston blames his club's 12-15 record on weak hitting. Dressen can complain a little in that department, too, but also has to point to mediocre pitching.

Only six complete games have been turned in for the Braves, who have a 12-10 record.

To bolster their bullpen, Milwaukee turned it. Its farm in Louisville Monday and recalled Ron Piche, a right-hander with a 1-1 record in the American association this year. That gives the Braves a pitching staff of 10.

FVL Sets 4 School Records In Track Loss to Hortonville

The Fox Valley Lutheran High school track team will meet Winnebago Lutheran, of Fond du Lac, on the Lawrence college track at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

FVL, which has one other engagement this week (Saturday in Milwaukee for the Lawrence Invitational), lost its most recent start, 68-49, to Hortonville.

Gary Kohl led the Polar Bears, with 16 points. He won the low hurdles and the broad jump and placed second in both the high jump and the 100-yard dash. Kohl was the meet held at Lawrence.

Four FVL school records were broken. Ron Olm ran the 100 in 10.5, breaking his own mark of 10.5.

Bob Luebke, the Foxes' leading point-winner Saturday, threw the discus 134 feet, 11 inches to erase his own mark of 123.5.

Ralph Sternhagen put the shot 42 feet, 54 inches, bettering his own school standard of 42.4.

The FVL 300-yard relay team was 1:42.9, 1:42.1—breaking the old mark of 1:43.1. Setting the record were Luebke, Olm, Ron Schmidt and Bruce Lillge.

Stocks Move To Downside

Losses Range From Fractions Up To Two Full Points

New York —(U)— Stock market prices headed downward today.

Trading activity had picked up on the decline after an opening surge quickly faded. The market was mixed a while before weakness set in.

Losses ran from fractions to 2 points.

Aircraft and missile stocks slipped well below early price levels. Electronic issues turned lower for the most part.

Motors Off

Ford was off more than 2 points and Chrysler better than a point in a weak motors group. Steels, rubbers, chemicals, nonferrous metals, oils and utilities joined the general decline. Rails, too, were mostly lower.

Some favorable business news, such as the continuing pickup in auto sales and the halt in the decline of industrial production during April, was ignored.

Boeing clung to a gain of about a point and a half, as did North American Aviation. Thiokol was still ahead more than 2, but this was around a point less than its early spurt.

International Telephone dropped better than a point, and American Telephone around a point in the utility group. American Cyanamid fell 1 1/2 points and Union Carbide was down a round 1 among chemicals.

Wider Losers

Wider losers among electronics included Universal Match, better than 4, and Polaroid, better than 5. Texas Instruments, on the other hand, rose more than 4 and Litton Industries was ahead about a point.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 1.75 at 615.84.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 0.30 to 212.70 with industrials down 0.50, rails off 0.10 and utilities off 0.20.

U. S. government bonds edged up fractions and corporates were higher.

Sunshine and spring gave way to showers throughout the Fox Cities Monday afternoon and evening.

About 98 of an inch of rain fell during the night. Showers are expected to continue until Thursday.

A rash of storms churned strong winds and scattered tornadoes with heavy rains and hail on parts of the Midwest and central plains Monday night and today. No injuries were reported.

Water Drops

A twister touched ground twice north of Logansport, Ind., damaging four hangars and two airplanes at an airport near the city. Another twister destroyed a barn near Peoria in central Illinois.

Near Baldwin, Ill., 50 miles southwest of St. Louis, 20 children and a bus driver watched apprehensively as a tornado swirled by within 250 yards of their bus, slapping down utility poles and trees.

Boats Capsize

A thunderstorm buffeted the St. Louis area with gusty winds and hailstones, some the size of golfballs. Some 20,000 homes in North St. Louis were without power temporarily after lightning struck a utility pole, knocking out a sub-station.

Winds were clocked up to 50 m.p.h. in Illinois and lower Michigan. About 50 boats

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—B. Alden Lillywhite, of the U. S. Office of Education, today promised to resurvey the application of tion at 1 p.m. Thursday in Pennings Hall of Fine Arts auditorium.

The convocation will include a formal academic procession by the faculty in honor of the students.

Presentations will be made to seniors graduating magna cum laude and cum laude, those selected for Delta Epsilon Sigma, national Catholic honor society, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, highest scores in graduate record exams, and those receiving fellowships or assistantships for advanced study.

the Shawano joint school district for federal funds to continue its program of integration of Menominee Indian children to determine if federal grant to the district of $277,000 could be increased.

Lillywhite's agreement to restudy the application came at the request of Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, who held a conference here of U. S. O. E. officials, members of the Menominee tribe, Wisconsin officials and executives of the bureau of Indian affairs in an effort to iron out some of the differences between the Shawano school officials and the U. S. O. E. school assistance division.

The congressman requested, and Lillywhite agreed that the education office makes the survey on the basis that sufficient federal funds would be granted the Shawano joint school district to retain its rating as an "integrated" school. Special consideration was asked for acceptance of an additional 60 pupils who are expected to enter kindergarten next year and a resurvey of the number of tribal pupils at Neopit.
